Income tax repeal placed on ballot

Petitions seeking to repeal the city's one per cent income tax now in effect were filed early Wednesday with the Fayette County Board of Elections to be placed on the November general election ballot.

The petitions were filed with the board of elections by Washington C.H. city auditor Jack Stackhouse shortly after 9 a.m. Wednesday, just seven hours before the filing deadline.

The filing deadline for the Nov. 4 general election is 4 p.m. today.

Stackhouse said the petitions contained a total of 484 valid signatures. After checking the petitions during a 10-day public inspection period at the city office building, Stackhouse invalidated only 34 signatures.

Only 373 valid signatures were needed by petitions to place the issue on the ballot. A total of 518 signatures were collected when the repeal petitions were circulated.

The income tax repeal action was initiated by a three-member committee of William R. Black, 122 W. Market St., Charles F. Pensyl, 613 S. Main St., and C.L. (Luke) Musser, 811 Briar Ave.

The one per cent city income tax became effective for collection purposes April 1. The income tax ordinance was approved by Washington C.H. City Council as an emergency measure after three consecutive readings in March.

Five of the seven city council members indicated the one per cent income tax was the only manner for the city to overcome its financial woes. City officials estimated municipal government operations would have faced a $233,000 deficit in the general fund this year without an income tax.

If Washington C.H. voters repeal the tax in November, it will mark the second time in two years city residents have rejected a municipal income tax.

Last November Washington C.H. voters rejected a city council offer to exchange 4.3-mills of property taxes for a 1.25 per cent income tax. The proposal was defeated by nearly a 6-1 vote.

In 1971, city council members approved a one per cent income tax as an emergency measure. The city collected taxes from April, when the ordinance became effective, until after the November election that year when it was removed after voters approved initiative petitions.

Council also approved legislation in 1966 to provide an income tax of one per cent as a non-emergency measure. The public defeated the tax issue by a referendum vote.

ALSO FILED Tuesday with the county board of elections was a petition for the sale of spirituous liquor by the glass in Perry Township. The liquor question has been defeated in several other previous elections.

Candidates filing petitions were: Willard Dice, 2981 Harmony Road, for Jasper Township clerk;

Harlan Hoppes, Jeffersonville, for Jeffersonville village board of public affairs;

Helen Anderson, Milledgeville, for Milledgeville clerk-treasurer;

Nelson C. Baker, Jeffersonville, for Jeffersonville village board of public affairs;

Marguerite Flax, Jeffersonville, for clerk of Jeffersonville village council;

Martin Smith, Rt. 1, Washington C.H. for Perry Township trustee;

William Stolzenburg Jr., 1104 Rawlings St., for Washington C.H. City Council;

Herbert Burton, 2278 Greenfield-Sabina Road, for Green Township trustee;

Philip Grover, 2906 Parrott-Station Road, for Fayette County Board of Education;

James F. Ward, 549 Damon Drive, for Washington C.H. City Council.

Hoffa's private notes being studied by FBI

DETROIT (AP) — The FBI is studying some of Jimmy Hoffa's private notes in an effort to retrace activities of the ex-Teamster boss just before he disappeared, a source said today.

Hoffa vanished a week ago after he left for a scheduled luncheon meeting at a fashionable suburban restaurant.

A man who identified himself as Hoffa's foster son, Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, told a Detroit television station that he, O'Brien, was safe. But he offered no explanation for the fact he hadn't talked to the Hoffa family since last Thursday.

FBI officials said O'Brien is one of several persons they would like to talk with, although there was no search for the 41-year-old union organizer who was raised by Hoffa from the age of 3.

It was not known precisely who else the FBI sought to interview.

The FBI refused to discuss Hoffa's notes, which were offered by his family. But a source close to the investigation said the material was "one of numerous" leads the bureau was pursuing.

A source said the notes include the names of union officials, business associates and politicians acquainted with Hoffa.

Like Hoffa, the skilled contract bargainer, his family thinks that money talks.

The family posted a $200,000 reward Tuesday for information revealing the whereabouts "and/or leading to the safe return" of the missing former Teamsters union president and announced that persons wanting to add to the stipend could send money to "The Jimmy Hoffa Reward Fund."

Contrary to some published reports, Jay E. Bailey, the FBI's chief investigator, said the bureau is working under the assumption that Hoffa is alive.

Bailey said, "We have no information that he is alive, but we have none that he is dead, either. We have no information."

A theory drifting through Detroit was that Hoffa was victim of someone who feared he might assist a federal investigation of union activities. Hoffa appeared before a grand jury earlier this summer and pleaded the Fifth Amendment — unusual for the man who always prided himself on taking on one-and-all tough government queries.

It also was reported that O'Brien could be a key man in the federal probe.

A man who identified himself as O'Brien phoned WXYZ-TV Tuesday night and said that he was safe. Earlier, Hoffa's son, Detroit attorney James P. Hoffa, said he last heard from O'Brien last Thursday — the day after Hoffa disappeared.

"We're trying to find him," the younger Hoffa said.

Friends said it is not unusual for O'Brien to disappear for a few days. But they were surprised that he was missing now because he was very close to Hoffa and could be expected to stay with the family.

The man who called WXYZ-TV said he is away on union business, then declined to discuss Hoffa's disappearance.

Candidate for accreditation status granted to Southern State College

WILMINGTON — Southern State General and Technical College has been named a candidate for accreditation by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, according to Dr. Lewis C. Miller, president of Southern State College.

North Central's Commission on Institutions of Higher Education voted to grant candidate for accreditation status to Southern State College as an associate degree-granting institution at its July 24 meeting. The committee's action was based on the results of two separate evaluations of the college and its program completed by North Central review teams in May and July.

Dr. Miller said that accreditation is vital to a college for two main reasons. First, it assures that credits earned can be transferred to other institutions if a student intends to change colleges or pursue additional degrees. Second, accreditation will make Southern State College students eligible for federally-funded student loans. He emphasized that the candidate for accreditation status has equal significance to full accreditation with regard to credit transfer and federal loan programs. Normally a college must operate successfully for four or five years and submit a self-study report before it receives full membership in the North Central Association.

In his letter informing Southern State College of the North Central Association's decision, commission director Thurston E. Manning commended Dr. Miller and the staff on the progress that has been made in developing the institution.

Southern State College, Ohio's newest general and technical college, offers two-year programs in general liberal arts, technical education, and adult continuing education that lead to the award of the associate degree. Southern State College will grant degrees in the arts, applied science, and applied business.

The college was chartered by the Ohio Board of Regents to begin operations on July 1. Active recruitment of students for the fall quarter is now in progress. Classes will begin September 25.

Created primarily to serve the residents of Adams, Brown, Clinton, Fayette, and Highland counties, Southern State College has attendance centers in Wilmington and at Eastern High School on U.S. 62 between Macon and Fincastle. Students from the northern part of the five-county area will attend classes at the Laurel Oaks Career Development Campus on the former site of the Clinton County Air Force Base. Students in the south now attend evening classes at Eastern High, but will move to a new facility in Macon scheduled for completion in September, 1976.

Southern State College has an open admissions policy designed to serve the non-traditional student including veterans and adults who have had their college educations postponed but who now wish to pursue a degree. Leisure time non-credit courses will also be offered to adults who want to learn new skills or study certain subjects for enjoyment.

Full time instructional and general fees for Ohio resident students are less than $800 for the academic year. Basic tuition at Southern State College is $15 per credit hour. Flexible course scheduling will be convenient for students who want to attend classes but who also work full or part-time.

By special agreement between Southern State College and Wilmington College, a four-year liberal arts college operated by the Society of Friends, Southern State students at the north campus will attend liberal arts classes at Wilmington College and have access to Wilmington College facilities, including the library. Students enrolled at Southern State will pay the Southern State tuition rate for all classes taken at Wilmington College.

2,015,076 signatures obtained

Bond issue petitions filed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes planned to submit 2,015,076 signatures to the secretary of state today in an effort to get his four economic proposals on the fall ballot.

A minimum of 307,202 signatures validated by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown are needed to put the proposals to a vote by the populace. Rhodes said he was filing 63 per cent more signatures than necessary.

Brown said it would take several weeks to check Rhodes signatures.

Rhodes said the signatures came from the state's 88 counties. He said passage of the proposals would help eliminate unemployment for 600,000 Ohioans.

Rhodes' refusal to go along with any substantial changes by the legislature miffed Democrats, particularly in the Senate where some members objected to the size of his proposed multi-billion dollar bond issues and the taxes that would be hiked to pay them off.

Even if the signatures go beyond the required 307,202, there remains a requirement for each to be checked by county election boards to determine if they are valid. Only qualified voters are permitted to sign such papers.

Secretary Brown said the check by the boards could take two or three weeks, and possibly longer. After this is done, if the petitioners are short, then the law provides another 10 days to make up the deficiency.

Former State Rep. Keith McNamara of Columbus, a spokesman for Ohioans for Jobs and Progress, said the petitions met the stipulation that the signatures come from voters in at least half of the 88 counties.

He said that requirement, along with the fact that signers had to affix their signatures on one sheet for each of the four issues, was ignored by many who said they felt the issues had been less than enthusiastically received among Ohio's citizens. "That added significantly to our efforts," he said.

Rhodes, if successful in getting his propositions on the ballot, will ask Ohioans to authorize:

—A $2.75 billion bond issue to finance massive improvements in cities and municipalities all across the state, the bonds to be paid off over 30 years with a seven tenths of a per cent increase in the existing four per cent sales tax.

—A $1.75 billion bond issue for all types of transportation, bonds to be retired over three decades with a nine

Measure demands several changes

County board members study new school bill

BY MARK THELLMANN

A new equal yield school bill, recently approved by the Ohio legislature, was the primary topic of discussion at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Fayette County Board of Education Tuesday night.

Superintendent Guy Foster briefed board members about the equal yield school bill passed by the Ohio House of Representatives May 14 and recently passed in the Ohio Senate. The bill, which presently is awaiting Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes' signature, is designed to assure an equal local tax effort be rewarded with an equal return.

The concept of equality would demand many changes in the certified and non-certified employee's pay scales working within the Miami Trace School District. Foster stated that under the bill's new formula, $11 less would be received per pupil from state funds and in order to receive the balance, the board would have to meet certain financial requirements directly affecting the district's employee salary scale.

"The state minimum for beginning certified teachers stands presently at $6,400," Foster explained. "Our district pays $7,250, but the new bill would raise the minimum in the fall to $7,400 and the per cent of increase would follow up the ladder accordingly for the salaries of non-certified and certified employees." Foster also said the bill would raise the minimum salary to $7,900 the following year and his main concern, as was the concern of other board members, was where the money would come from when 25 kindergarten children are forced to meet in a church basement in New Holland and repairs and expansions are necessary with the present pupil load in all the county school buildings.

The bill also introduced measures requiring a certain number of certified people within the system per number of students. For example two certified persons in the areas of guidance counseling, library personal, physical education, music and art would be required per 1,000 students. The bill then requires three persons per 1,000 students the following year, four per 1,000 the next and five per 1,000 after that. Discussion on the new bill is expected to continue during future board meetings. It is not expected to be vetoed by the governor.

Board members also dealt with resignations, contract adjustments, student accident insurance, tuition rates, one-year supplemental contracts, leases, the non-certified employee calendar and the possibility of purchasing a small bus or van to transport athletes to events and students on field trips.

Irma Pierce, assistant cook at Miami Trace High School, was granted resignation effective Sept. 1.

Martha Evans, sixth-grade teacher at Wilson Elementary School, was granted employment on a half-year basis with salary to be adjusted accordingly.

New one-year teacher contracts effective Aug. 28 were awarded to Ruth Leese, English teacher at Miami Trace High School and Eber Junior High School; Anita Pruitt, vocal music teacher at Wayne and Wilson elementary schools; and Jane Morner, librarian at Miami Trace High School. Board members authorized Superintendent Foster to hire a vocal music teacher for the high school.

Board members awarded Pennington Bread the bread bid, Model Dairy the milk bid and Clary Coal the coal bid. Bill Pool Insurance received the student accident insurance bid.

A tuition rate of $44.86 per month (a $5 increase) was established by board members for students wishing to attend the Miami Trace school system residing outside the district. The new rate also carries a clause stating the money must be paid the first of every month and once a month is missed, the student is dropped from the district.

Traci Brown, Elm Street, and Phillip Swiger, Jamestown, were granted permission by board members to attend the county school district. Doug McClure Jr., received permission to be released from the county school district to finish his senior year at Washington Senior High School.

After much discussion and difference of opinion, a majority vote of board members ruled in favor of renewing the $1,100 lease on the New Holland Methodist Church basement in order to

Shelby woman winner of $1 million drawing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Glenda Stexton of Shelby carried a horseshoe for luck during Tuesday night's fifth Ohio millionaire lottery drawing, but it was a whole horse named Jacquet that paid off for her.

The 32-year-old mother of two, one of 10 finalists at Scioto Downs, drew horse No. 3 for the determining race, then had to wait a few moments longer when the Millionaire Derby ended in a photo finish.

But when the results flashed on the board, Mrs. Stexton was declared winner of $50,000 for each of the next 20 years, making her the state's newest millionaire.

Winner of the second top money of $100,000 was Shirley Spence, 33, of Spencerville, and Mildred L. Burroughs of Blanchester went home from the races with the $50,000 third-place money.

Mrs. Stexton said she and her husband, Raymond, 35, an employee of GAF Shelby Business Forms, had "joked around about winning the money, but we really thought there was a very slim chance." That's why she carried the horseshoe and a rabbit's foot for luck.

"We haven't made any plans about what we'll do with the money," her husband said. "We probably won't do anything with it for a year or two, then maybe we'll build a new house."

He said he didn't anticipate the money causing any major changes for the family.

Mrs. Stexton said she bought lottery tickets regularly, averaging four to six a week, and the ticket which brought her to Columbus for the million-dollar drawing was her third $20 winner.

Ralph J. Spence said he and his wife will use part of their $100,000 second-prize money first to buy a house.

Northerly winds brought cool air to the area today, giving the air conditioners a rest for a few days. A cold front moved south of the Ohio River last night, accompanied by scattered showers.

Some of the heavier rainfalls were over a third of an inch at Toledo, and a half inch at Chesapeake on the Ohio River. However, some locations had no rain at all in the past 24 hours.

The showers were ending from the northwest and will give way to partly cloudy skies this afternoon and tonight.

A high pressure followed the front over Lake Superior this morning, and by Thursday will be moving eastward across the lower Great Lakes, giving fair weather Thursday and Friday.

Temperatures late last night were in the 60s over the state, and dropped to 58 at Toledo. Readings this afternoon were forecast at 70 near Lake Erie, and the mid 70s farther south.

Lows for tonight are forecast in the cool 50s. Sunshine Thursday should push the mercury back up into the mild 70s.

Fair Friday. A chance of showers Saturday and Sunday. Highs in the low 80s Friday and in the mid to upper 80s Saturday and Sunday.

Stock prices turn mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today after making another brief and half-hearted rally attempt.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up about 3 points at mid-morning, showed only a .16 gain at 810.31 by noon. Gainers trailed losers by about a 4-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading was moderate. Analysts said it appeared the market was still handcuffed by concern that rising interest rates and inflation would stall the expected recovery from the recession.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index lost .28 to 87.05. Still looming over the market was the government's report due Thursday on the July wholesale price index. Since late last month Wall Street has been bracing for a substantial rise in the index.

The NYSE's composite index slipped .14 to 45.95.

Hocking sheriff named in suit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $1 million suit was filed against Sheriff Paul Hartman of Hocking County by a Fairfield County youth who was burned in a fire in a jail cell last year.

The $500,000 punitive and $500,000 compensatory damages action was brought this week by Mark Williams in U.S. District Court.

The suit contends that Williams suffered burns over 80 per cent of his body when the Hocking County jail cell he was in caught fire Aug. 1, 1974.

Williams contends that the sheriff had a legal duty to secure his safety while locked up.

Williams was arrested the night before the fire on a charge of leaving the Fairfield School for Boys without authorization, the suit says.

Higher liquor taxes proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Department of Health, Education and Welfare staff paper proposes boosting liquor taxes and restricting liquor advertising as part of the effort to reduce death and disease caused by alcoholic beverages.

CIA makes profit on front operations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency has made significant profits on two of its front operations, CIA Director William E. Colby testified today.

Colby told the House intelligence committee in prepared testimony that the CIA made considerable profits from Air America, an airline that aided CIA efforts in Southeast Asia, and from a CIA pension fund.

Air America is being disposed of while the pension fund continues to operate, although Colby said the profits have been turned into the Treasury since 1973. Colby did not specify the profit levels.

Most of the CIA's front operations, which the agency calls proprietaries, have been unprofitable, the director said.

"I foresee a continuing need to use the proprietary mechanism to further accomplishment of agency operations," Colby said.

Colby defined proprietaries as "apparently commercial entities that are in reality controlled by the agency." He said, "Such companies provide cover and support for clandestine activities and enable us to carry out administrative tasks discreetly."

Most proprietaries have fewer than ten employees, but "a very few of our former proprietaries, such as Radio Free Europe and Air America, have been fairly large entities."

The pension fund was described by Colby as "a financial enterprise which enables the agency to administer certain sensitive trusts, annuities, escrows and insurance arrangements without attribution to the agency. It enables us to insure with a controlled company some of our activities we could not expose to regular insurance companies. It enables us to pay annuities to individuals whose links with the U.S. government must remain secret."

In the past, the proprietary companies retained their profits, Colby said. The intelligence chief said that by 1973 "accumulated profits amounted to a considerable sum" so the excess was reported to Congress and used to reduce the amount appropriated. However, the CIA's general counsel advised that this did not constitute the full appropriations process and "subsequent profits have been and will be delivered to the Treasury," Colby said.

High-level tax protest

There are essentially two schools of thought about paying taxes (we exclude, for the moment, those whose rally cry is "Don't"). Most citizens tend to follow the principle that the only thing to do is bow to fate and pay up without making a fuss. Others think making a fuss is the name of the game.

Thus it would appear, at any rate.

Disneyland in D.C.

WASHINGTON (KFS) — In a couple of hours I am going to climb on a plane home and then head for Martha's Vineyard and a brief vacation from the affairs of the world and nation. Curiously the thing that has impressed me about Washington is that the government of the United States seems to be on vacation. Of course the President is off detenting (which is one way of defining a vacation from political reality), but the "world's greatest deliberative body" — which is not scheduled to recess until Aug. 7 — appears to be equally out of touch.

Perhaps the most vivid symbol of the Disneyland atmosphere was the take-

They pounce on errors — those of the government, that is — as cats on mice. Having pounced, they protest. And often enough to make it interesting, disputed claims are resolved in their favor.

Some timid folk consider this approach not quite respectable. Nonsense. No less a personage than Prime Minister Pierre Elliott

Trudeau of Canada has just joined the ranks of the protesters: he complains that last year's taxes on his lakeside lot in the Laurentians were eight dollars too high. So view tax bills with a skeptical eye, folks, and protest disputed items. If this course is good enough for the prime minister of Canada, who are we to hang back?

off of former Senator Fred Harris, who is stumping the country in a house trailer as the "populist" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. Harris chose as his launching pad Lafayette Square, across the street from the White House, and, as a band played and a dedicated handful cheered, the Oklahoman figuratively shook an angry fist at the "interests" that dominated the President. The White House, however, was empty.

Then I was chatting with an eminent journalist who covers the Hill, when he got a phone call — it was from a leading Republican congressman asking if my friend thought the GOP had enough votes in the House to win on Turkey! Asked what the Republican whip thought, the congressman said, "Hell, he can't count. He had us winning the last one by 20 votes — a slight error of 35."

On the Senate side, at least they got rid of the New Hampshire Senate contest between Democrat John Durkin and Republican Louis Wyman. Without an extensive recapitulation of the bidding, the history is that in a close vote last November Durkin was first declared elected and certified to the Senate, and then the New Hampshire election board switched the decision and declared Wyman the victor by two votes. Under the provisions of the Constitution, each House of Congress has the final say in such contests, and the Senate has been wrestling with this one interminably — 100 or more hours of debate and 35 roll-call votes.

Those of you who follow New Hampshire's "first-in-the-nation" presidential primary will be aware of the eccentricities of the Granite State's electorate. (For example, in the 1968 primary — which was interpreted as a great victory for Eugene McCarthy against Lyndon Johnson — a substantial percentage of those who supported the "peace" candidate turned out to be "hawks" mad at LBJ for not winning the war. In the general election they voted for George Wallace.)

Well, the Durkin-Wyman contest was no exception. The big problem was which ballots to contest: All (a total recount)? Or the "skip ballots" (in New Hampshire you can vote the straight ticket by putting an X in a circle on top of the paper ballot; but some voters who did this and then went on to check all the GOP candidates except (Wyman individually)? At the start it seemed simple: the Senate Rules Committee took jurisdiction over those ballots that were contested. The first one they opened had a write-in — for "Mickey Mouse."

To go further into detail would violate the 8th Amendment's injunction against cruel and unusual punishment. Suffice it to say that on July 30th the Senate declared its "inability" to settle the dispute and bounced it back to New Hampshire for a special election. There is, however, more to this than meets the eye because as soon as it became clear that the election was a mess Wyman seized the high ground and shrewdly announced his willingness to go back for a rerun. He figured that with Watergate ancient history, he could win a clear majority.

I'm told that Durkin's inclination was to accept the challenge, but various leading Democrats told him, in effect, to hang tough and everything would work out fine. Now Durkin has willfully been forced by the Senate to accept a rerun and he goes into the race hurt by his earlier refusal to "let the people decide." In short, Durkin got stuck with a middle-hand in high-low poker.

You are fortunate that I have to catch a plane. Otherwise I might go on to discuss the energy shambles, which makes a progressive kindergarten look like a military academy by comparison with the Congress of the United States. If your luck holds, I will have forgotten the details before I return to write. Now all I have to worry about is whether my wife has decided what to pack.

Drive launched for OSU funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio State University Development Fund has launched a drive for $300,000 to provide financial support for minority students planning careers in business.

Robert H. Potts, president of City National Bank & Trust Co., Columbus, will head the program to obtain the funds from private sources.

The minority assistance program will be set up in the College of Administrative Science. It is aimed at defraying the $3,000-a-year cost for the four-year bachelor's program and $3,200-a-year cost for graduate study.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eastman Kodak Co. of Rochester, N. Y., has announced grants of $10,000 to Ohio State University's department of chemistry and $6,000 to the department of physics.

The grants are to assist graduate education and research in fields related to Kodak's own research and development program. Similar grants went to 40 other universities and colleges.

Founding fathers food fare fun

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — If the soup's on at John and Mona Heck's, it's liable to be green goose, pigeons transmogrified or "stewed spinnage."

And Mona Heck's favorite recipe was the pride of brides back in 1780 and reads like this:

"To Make Lemon Syllabubs: To a pint of cream put a pound of double refined sugar, the juice of seven lemons, grate the rinds of two lemons into a pint of white wine, and half a pint of sake (saki), then put them all into a deep pot, whisk them for half an hour, put it into glasses the night before you want it. It is better for standing two or three days, but it will keep a week if required."

The housewife and her husband, John, who learned cooking from his mother and grandmother, have whipped up a "Bicentennial Cookbook Fabulous Foods of the Founding Fathers."

Mrs. Heck, who did not "bother stirring unless a recipe specifically told me to," now experiments with pounds, pints and pinches in the best pioneer tradition.

The cookbook contains lemon syllabubs and Heck's favorite, beef steak "pye."

Directions for it read: "Beat five or six rump steaks very well with a paste pin, and season them well with pepper and salt, lay a good puff paste round the dish, and put a little water in the bottom, then lay the steaks in, with a lump of butter upon every steak, and put on the lid, cut a little paste in what form you please, and lay it on."

The 30-year-old chemical fertilizer salesman, who both agree is the better cook, explains a paste pin is a rolling pin; puff paste would be puffy crust; and a lid also is a crust.

"You've just got to guess how much a lump of butter is or how long to bake the pie," he said. He recommends a very slow oven.

Of the 140 recipes in the book, Mrs. Heck estimates they've tried 15 to 20 per cent.

"I've served syllabub at a party so friends could try it. It's a sort of dessert drink, both sweet and tart at the same time. I'm not sure what syllabub means, though I ran across a reference that indicates it's a kind of dish or glass."

By checking out encyclopedias, the Hecks have verified that "allegor" means malt vinegar; "barm" is the foam which rises on top of fermenting beer and was used as a leavening agent; "pettitoes" are pigs feet and a "tun dish" is a funnel.

Mrs. Heck began collecting the recipes as a hobby and turned her full attention to the bicentennial project after she resigned her teaching job to care for the couple's 10-month-old daughter, Sarah.

"I enjoy being home with the baby and I feel I should be here. I do needlepoint and hook rugs, but I needed something else," she said. "This project will keep me busy at least a year."

The Declaration of Independence was signed by 56 persons.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Kids decry parents' undemocratic system

DEAR ABBY: We are supposed to be living under a democratic system, right? Well, what kind of justice is there when the mother and father of a family can do anything they want, including things they tell their kids they can't do, but nobody can say a word to them about it?

We have to hang up our clothes or we get docked, but I notice their clothes aren't always hung up. We are told to keep quiet while an adult is talking, but both my parents interrupt other people while they're talking. Is that fair?

They are constantly correcting us about how we eat and the grammar we use, but just let THEM, and we get a fat lip.

So what are kids suppose to do?

NO DEMOCRACY

DEAR NO: Kids are supposed to do what their parents tell them to do unless it is dishonest, harmful to others or a violation of the law. I wish more parents realized that the most effective teacher a child can have is the example set for him by his parents.

DEAR ABBY: I have two very pretty daughters I'll call "Lucy" and "Ann". Lucy is 24 and Ann is 17. Lucy is married and has a small child. The child was hospitalized recently, so during that time, Lucy stayed at the hospital with him.

I just found out that when Ann was at the hospital to visit, her brother-in-law took her home. When they got here, no one was home, so he came in and tried to take advantage of her. she pulled away from him and ran into the bathroom and locked the door and stayed there until he left.

Nobody knows this except Ann and me. If I told my husband, he'd kill his son-in-law.

Should I tell Lucy what a terrible man her husband is? I don't think he should get off free like that. Or should I tell my son-in-law that I am wise to him and that if he ever pulls that stunt again, I'll tell Lucy? I can hardly look him in the face.

DISGUSTED

DEAR DUSGUSTED: Don't tell Lucy, and don't mention it to her husband. But do tell Ann to let you know if her brother-in-law ever gets out of line again. THEN, lower the boom on the bum.

DEAR ABBY: You passed over the problem of sweaty palms much too casually. It's a serious handicap. My husband had that condition (it's called "hyperhydrosis") over 25 years. He recalled that in the second grade, other would say, "Get your clammy hands off me!"

In today's society, a man's handshake is analyzed. A clammy hand is supposed to mean its owner is sneaky or insecure. My husband hands weren't merely clammy; perspiration literally ran off them! When he had to shake hands, he did so unwillingly after drying them on his handkerchief or trousers.

Last year, Dr. Donald F. Dohn, a neurosurgeon at the Cleveland Clinic who performs surgery on the sympathetic nerves to the hands (exclusively), successfully operated on my husband, and now his hands are bone dry. Only those who suffer from hyperhydrosis can appreciate his relief.

Perhaps this letter will give hope to others who were told that their condition was hopeless. Sign us....

GRATEFUL IN ANCHORAGE

DEAR GRATEFUL: And I am grateful to you for informing me that excessive sweating is not a curse that one must simply accept and learn to live with. Dermatologists have also been successful with yet another approach.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope please.

Landfill 'life expectancy' 18 months

The Fayette County Board of Health Tuesday discussed several programs under its auspices. No major action was taken on any project.

The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency has estimated the "life expectancy" of the Fayette County landfill at 18 months. By the end of 1976, the area now being used for the landfill will have accepted as much waste as the land can adequately handle.

Dr. William E. Covert, health commissioner, said it requires approximately 15 months to arrange for a new site and to receive EPA approval of the location. Therefore, the board will soon begin seeking another area in which to continue the landfill operation.

The commissioner added that although some minor deficiencies in the present operation were cited by the EPA, the quality of the landfill was found to be acceptable.

Board members approved the preliminary sewage plans for the Day Subdivision on U.S. 35-S, near Bogus Road.

Actually the subdivision consists of only one home to be built by Norman Day, 4670 U.S. 35-S, on half of his present property.

More stringent sewage regulations for Fayette County are being considered by the board. At present, approval of waste systems in the county is based upon regulations outlined by the National Soil Service survey of the land, but some members feel that greater restrictions may be necessary.

They recommend that several soil factors not considered by the national survey be tested by the local agency.

The board approved an interim budget for the operation of the county's Help Anonymous program which will be submitted to the Region Six planning commission. The Ohio Commission on Aging provides funds for the program's operation, and the regional planning commission must approve the budget before state aid can be obtained.

Help Anonymous has established a "hot line" for elderly residents. By calling 335-4144, they may obtain information concerning health care, transportation, Social Security or other agencies which serve the elderly.

Dr. Covert reported that the Early Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment program appears to have been well received. Board members felt it should be continued for at least another year.

The program allows welfare recipients to receive low-cost health evaluations for their children.

Board members approved expenses for Dr. Covert to attend the 56th Ohio Health Commissioners conference in Columbus. He will address the conference concerning new public health bills approved by the Ohio Legislature.

Sohio named in $5 million damage suit

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Standard Oil Co. of Ohio is among those charged in a $5 million suit filed in federal court here by three of its dealers whose stations were sold under an anti-trust settlement.

Robert B. Williams, Bud Hatfield and Edward C. Veid, all of whom operated stations in the Cincinnati area, are seeking a jury trial in the suit filed Tuesday, which names as defendants Sohio, British Petroleum Co. Ltd. and three of its subsidiaries, Fisca Oil Co. of Kansas City, U.S. Atty. Gen. Edward Levi and William Cafaro, special master for U.S. District Court in Youngstown.

The class action is the result of a June, 1974 Justice Department decree permitting the merger of Sohio and British Petroleum, but ordering Sohio to divest itself of the annual sale of 400 million gallons of oil products by selling retail outlets in groups of 10 or more.

Sohio sold 11 stations to Fisca, including the ones operated by the plaintiffs, and last month, several operators rejected compensatory offers by the company as insufficient.

Fayette Choral Society

Fayette Choral Society readies for first public performance

The Fayette County Choral Society will present its first public performance Sunday at 4 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church, located at the corner of Market and Hinde streets.

Miss Nelly Maude Case of Brighton, Mass. will be the guest organist. She will open the program with a group of selections from the organ works of Bach, Brahms and Cesar Frank.

Under the direction of Charles Schaffer, the choir, accompanied by Mrs. Donald (Mary Jeanne) Schwaigert, will present sacred, patriotic and inspirational numbers.

The program was inspired by the prospect of the nation's bicentennial celebration. Except for Martin Luther's "A Mighty Fortress," all pieces being presented will be American traditional and composed works and the texts are the work of American poets.

Several soloists will be featured during the concert. Mrs. Wayne (Emily) King will sing the soprano solo in "There is a Balm in Gilead," whose text comes from Jeremiah with music composed by William L. Dawson.

Gary Browning will sing the baritone solo from "The Beatitudes," a sacred number whose words were taken from the fifth chapter of St. Matthew and was composed by H.R. Evans.

Alan Dunlap, tenor, will present the solo "I Talked to God Last Night" by David W. Guion. He will be accompanied by Miss Elane Stookey.

Other numbers to be presented by the choir are: "The Old Time Religion," arranged by Gordon Young; "A Rose Touched by the Sun's Warm Rays" with the original text being Pennsylvania Dutch, music by Jean Berger; Peter J. Wilhousky's arrangement of "Battle Hymn of the Republic;" "Choose Something Like a Star," from "Frosteriana," a collection of seven country songs whose words were written by the famous Robert Frost and composed by Randall Thompson; "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor," words by Emma Lazarus from the sonnet, "The New Colossus," which describes the Statue of Liberty, music by Irving Berlin and arranged for Fred Waring.

The program will close with the Dale Wood arrangement of "A Mighty Fortress" for organ with Miss Case at the console, the choir and soprano descant by Mrs. King and Miss Karen Gerker, and trumpet obligato by Allan

Fennig, a Capital University music student.

The choir was formed as a result of interest shown by church choir members who participated in the "Festival of Chords" held last April during the Easter season. The public is urged to show its support by attending the concert. A free-will offering will be taken to help defray costs.

Members of the choir are: Mrs. Norman Armbrust, Mrs. John S. Boylan, Miss Ann Campbell, Gary Browning, Mrs. Michael Campbell, Mrs. John P. Case, Miss Kathleen Davis, Allen Dunlap, Mrs. Orville Dunlap, Mrs. Truman Dunn, Mrs. Lloyd Fennig, Mrs. Milbourne Flee, Mrs. John Frederick, Miss Karen Gerker, Mrs. James Grinstead, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice B. ## Dog leads blind woman through obstacles

'Good girl, Lady!'

By SANDY FOSSON

Competing in an obstacle course can be a real challenge. But when the course is a mile walk around such obvious physical objects as a step ladder, boxes, rakes, cans and poles around bright orange highway pylons, the challenge disappears — unless you are blind.

Twenty-five graduates of the Pilot Dogs, Inc., Columbus, converged in the capital city for a two-day convention last weekend and competed in the pilot dog obstacle course — a 15 minute, mile-long sidewalk course in downtown Columbus from the Southern Hotel at Main and High streets to the Scioto River.

Janet Haynes, 313 Florence St., was one of the 25 alumni from the dog training program for the blind, who came from as far away as Washington state and Israel, to enter the course. She and Lady, her Golden Labrador, proudly returned home with a new portable AM-FM radio after successfully completing the challenge and winning third place honors in the course.

"We didn't knock any of the markers down," she exclaimed, while Lady calmly laid beside Janet's feet with front legs crossed as through she were part human.

Janet, who graduated July 21, 1973 from the Pilot Dog training program, has had Lady ever since. She was forced to give up a previous dog after only six weeks when he became too protective of his new master.

"He started nipping people when they came close to me," she said, while adding that although many blind persons have pilot dogs for several years, it is unusual for the dogs to become too overly-protective of their owners.

Their obligations are to guide their owners, not protect them, she said, refuting a common misconception of pilot dogs.

The dogs have been trained through the pilot dog school to guide their masters by walking crossways in front of them to divert them from any dangerous obstacles.

Once the dogs have completed the training, the prospective owners train with the new dogs two to four weeks to allow the dogs to become accustomed to their tone of voice and habits.

Janet said she has had no problems with Lady and noted her best method in maintaining obedience from Lady is to "be myself and reward her often."

"I hug her and tell her she's a good girl all the time," she said but added she also reinforces Lady's obedience by daily lessons in teaching her to sit and stay.

Thirty-five-year-old Janet, who has been partially blind since only a few months old and totally blind for over 20 years, said she was forced to do restrictive walking with a cane before obtaining a pilot dog but now takes Lady for a two mile walk generally every day.

"Before, I would be afraid. I'd stand there petrified at the intersection of Washington and Columbus Avenues," she recalled of her fears of crossing the busy downtown intersection with a cane.

Janet now walks with Lady nearly every day from her home on Florence Street, where she resides with her parents, Mr. and

Janet and Lady

Mrs. Charles Haynes, to a downtown drug store and back, two miles roundtrip.

She noted her freedom of movement has been tremendously expanded with Lady, even though Lady does much of the "feeling" for her during the walks. "It's much more comforting to be able to have Lady take me around instead of discovering things like a hole by falling into them," she quipped.

She is able to take longer walks without the lack of confidence she once had just in walking down a street. And with that feeling prevailing, Janet and Lady can be seen quite often on many of the streets in Washington C.H.

Rewarding hug

Steaks flavored with beer

Most good cooks are hep to the secrets of cooking with wine. For a switch, try cooking with beer. It lends fabulous flavor when used to baste fresh ham or pork roasts and it works wonders, too, spiced with Worcestershire sauce and catsup as a marinade for:

BARBECUED STEAK

1 bottle (5 ounces) Worcestershire sauce
1 bottle (12 ounces) catsup
1 can (12 ounces) beer
3 pound top round steak
To prepare marinade, combine in a medium bowl Worcestershire sauce, catsup and beer (makes about 3½ cups).

Place steak in a snug-fitting pan. Pour 1 cup marinade over steak, turning to coat all sides. Cover and refrigerate for 5 to 6 hours. Refrigerate remaining marinade in a covered container (it will keep 3 to 4 weeks); use over chicken, pork or beef.

Remove steak from marinade. Place under a preheated hot broiler or grill over hot charcoal, brushing occasionally with marinade, until done as desired, about 12 to 15 minutes on each side. Makes 6 portions.

Round out your barbecue menu with a two-in-one vegetable dish that combines garden-fresh green beans with canned round peeled tomatoes for color. Add blue cheese for special flavor and serve with white sauce sparked with bacon:

SAUCY GREEN BEANS AND TOMATOES

3 strips bacon
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
1 to 2 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese
1 (28-ounce) can drained round peeled tomatoes
4 cups (1 pound) cooked fresh whole green beans

Fry bacon in saucepan. Remove bacon and all but 2 tablespoons bacon fat. Crumble bacon. Stir in flour, salt and pepper. Heat one minute. Stir in milk until mixture is well blended. Heat until it's thickened and just comes to a boil. Stir in blue cheese. Add tomatoes and green beans. Blend well. Heat to serving temperature. Serve with crumbled bacon on top. Serves 4.

HERBED LEMON BARBECUED CHICKEN

2-3rds cup lemon juice
2-3rds cup water
½ cup catsup
3 tablespoons firmly packed dark brown sugar
2 tablespoons paprika
2 tablespoons onion powder
1 tablespoon cornstarch
3½ teaspoons salt, divided
1½ teaspoons oregano leaves
1 teaspoon garlic powder
¾ teaspoon ground red pepper
½ teaspoon powdered mustard
½ teaspoon thyme leaves
4 tablespoons oil
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
3 (2½ pounds each) chickens, quartered

In a large saucepan, combine lemon juice, water, catsup, brown sugar, paprika, onion powder, cornstarch, 1½ teaspoons of the salt, oregano, garlic powder, red pepper, mustard and thyme; blend well. Stir in oil. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens, about three minutes. Remove from heat; stir in parsley flakes. Cool; set aside.

Sprinkle both sides of chickens with remaining 1½ teaspoons salt. To broil, place chickens on racks in broiler pans. Cook under preheated (375 F.) broiler for 30 minutes, turning often. Brush with reserved barbecue sauce, turning and brushing frequently until chicken is tender, about 15 to 20 minutes. Or, arrange on grill over slow burning charcoal. Cook following preceding directions. Makes 12 portions.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — New Orleans' huge new Superdome has a $1.3 million super-TV set hanging from its ceiling. The idea is to give fans in the stadium a super view of live action on the field.

But when the New Orleans Saints go marching into their first exhibition game Saturday at the Superdome, the only definite show on the super-set will be instant replays and stadium-only commercials.

Fans won't see massive pictures of live action in that game or any of the Saints' 10 other home games this season, according to Superdome officials.

The reason: Despite two efforts by Superdome officials, the National Football League still won't permit live stadium-only TV views of the kind the Superdome's six 22-foot-high screens could show.

NFL spokesman Jim Kensil says the ban is for a variety of reasons, ranging from possible distraction of players to fears it somehow could greatly help the home team spot weaknesses in the opposition.

He said in-stadium TV hasn't been much of an issue until now because only a few stadiums have it and their pictures don't compare in clarity to those of the Superdome.

However, he said, the NFL for the past two seasons has allowed taped highlights of a game-in-progress to be shown on stadium TV at half-time and at two other periods in the game.

This season, he said, the NFL is letting stadiums show instant replays of action on their own turf, but only as a one-year test "so if it doesn't work or causes problems it can be reconsidered."

If no snags develop, it's possible that the NFL would authorize stadium screen showing of live action next season, he added.

In that event, the Superdome could get its live-action TV pictures from two sources — its own crews or the TV network covering a Saints home game. But even then, one major issue still has to be settled.

Kensil says the NFL has told Superdome officials that if live stadium TV is approved, "we'd have to discuss if they have the right" to show the Saints' home games on the six big Superdome screens.

Because the NFL has sold the TV rights of its games to CBS, NBC and ABC, he explained, there's a question of whether these rights involve the live stadium-only telecasts sought by the Superdome.

"We'd have to get into the legal side of it, who has the right to do what," he said.

So this season, Superdome officials say, the big screens will show only replays and commercials. They say they're also negotiating with the networks to show other games on the screens following each home game of the Saints, but that nothing is final yet.

They said when the NFL holds its league meeting next March, they'll try to get it to lift the ban on live, stadium-only telecasts, and resolve whether the Superdome has the rights to such telecasts.

Plant blast suspect held

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A man wanted in connection with the firebombing of a Sponge Rubber Products Co. plant in Connecticut was being held here after his arrest in Akron Monday.

Albert R. Coffey, 43, who gave his residence as Butler, Pa., was being held in lieu of $150,000 bond. A federal indictment charges him with arson and conspiracy in a $14 million bombing in March of the plant in Shelton, Conn.

FBI agents said Coffey was working as a bartender under an assumed name when they arrested him. Nine others—including Charles Moeller of Cridersville, Ohio, president of the parent firm—also were indicted after four men wearing ski masks were reported to have set off the explosion and fire. The four said they were members of the radical Weather underground.

Coffey is scheduled to face a hearing Aug. 12 for his removal to New Haven, Conn.

Armco Steel Corp. to increase prices

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Calling it a "corrective action that can no longer be delayed," Armco Steel Corp. has announced price increases averaging 9 per cent on carbon sheet steel and strip products.

The increases, effective Aug. 20, were presented to the Council on Wage and Price Stability Tuesday by the Middletown-based firm, the nation's fifth largest steel producer.

The firm called the increases "long overdue," explaining that production costs have risen 17.4 per cent, or $45 per ton, in a 13 month period. Armco's last price hike on flat-rolled products came in July, 1974.

The stability council secured commitments from several major steel companies last December that instituted "a virtual price freeze" for six months and put off the increases announced yesterday, a spokesman said.

Last December, prices on most other steel products were raised between 6.6 per cent and 9.2 per cent.

The new flat-rolled increase will average 1.3 cents a pound, or $25 a ton, for hot-rolled, cold-rolled and coated carbon steels, the firm said.

That translates into an added consumer cost of about $34 for enough steel for a medium-sized car and about $2.12 for a 16-cubic-foot refrigerator, the spokesman added.

"Such increases on flat-rolled steel were fully justified last December. Since then costs have continued to skyrocket, so much so that since January, 1975, losses in our flat-rolled operations have averaged $2 million a month," the company said.

"In fact, the action we are taking falls far short of the increase necessary to fully correct the cost price imbalance in flat-rolled products. We will still be absorbing nearly half of the more than $45 a-ton increases incurred since the last price increase July 1, 1974," the company stated.

Armco's 1974 sales totaled $3.2 billion, with $490.8 million net income. The company supplied nearly 20 per cent of the steel used by the auto industry.

The Middletown firm called the increase "a stopgap measure until market conditions permit a full recovery of those cost increases. We cannot continue to sell flat-rolled products at price levels which produce a loss," a company statement said.

Blaming the hike on materials, energy, cost-of-living and employee salary increases, Armco said the increases will continue because a reduction in the allocation of natural gas to its plants will force a switch to more expensive fuels.

Teenage institute on alcohol slated

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — The 11th annual Teenage Institute on Alcohol and Other Drugs will be held Aug. 10-15 at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Ohio Health Director Dr. John Ackerman said more than 300 high school students will discuss involvement in helping teenagers solve alcohol-drug problems during the five-day session.

Ackerman said the problem of teenage alcoholics had been overshadowed by publicity about teenage involvement with marijuana and LSD. He said the institute would delve into both problems.

Seminar scheduled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Bureau of Equal Employment Opportunity will hold a contractor's seminar to explain new regulations Aug. 11 in the State Office Tower. The regulations were filed with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown on May 30.

Zeta CCL chapter donates lounge chairs to hospital

Many parents will be pleasantly surprised as they sit watching junior nap off the anesthesia in his room at Fayette Memorial Hospital from having his tonsils removed because now they too will be able to recline comfortably in a chair and catch some winks.

Hospital administrator Robert L. Kunz announced that members of the Zeta chapter of the Child Conservation League of Fayette County have graciously donated two pediatric reclining lounge chairs valued at $250 apiece to the hospital.

"We are expanding our pediatric unit along with other hospital facilities through the construction of the new wing," Kunz stated. "The children's unit upon completion will have seven beds and hopefully seven of these chairs. We now have four."

The 24 Zeta CCL women under the philanthropic chairmanship of Mrs.

Gene Gustin earned the money for the chairs by selling pecans and candles last fall.

Kunz stated his appreciation of the gift by saying, "It's organizations like this which make our community a better place to live and I can't thank the Zeta CCL women enough for their time and dedication given to Fayette Memorial Hospital so unselfishly."

Majority supports oil price changes

NEW YORK (AP) — A 54-22 per cent majority of the American people support President Ford's proposal to deregulate the price of oil produced in this country, a Louis Harris poll says. Twenty-four per cent are not sure.

The result of the poll, taken in July from a nationwide cross-section of 1,497 adults, compared with a 4-31 per cent plurality in April.

By village council members

Curfew violations studied in B'burg

BLOOMINGBURG — A recent upswing in the number of curfew violators prompted concern from Bloomingburg village council members who discussed the problem Tuesday.

It was noted that the village curfew ordinance provides stiff penalties to be levied against the parents of violators, and councilmen resolved to strictly enforce the ordinance. A special effort will be made to apprehend any youth who is rowdy after curfew.

Penalties for violation include a three-day jail term for the parents of a first offender, 10 days in jail for a second offense, and a 30-day jail term for a third offense. Fines range for $10 to $100.

A heated discussion ensued when council member Daniel Thompson introduced an ordinance which called for erection of stop signs at almost all village intersections. Although mayor Max Grim opposed the measure, it carried by a 4-1 margin with councilwoman Mrs. Irene Grim casting the only negative vote.

Thompson contended that cars have been speeding excessively along streets in the village, and he felt the added stop signs would lessen the problem. The only major exception in the ordinance was Main Street which already has two four-way stops. The three remaining intersections on Main Street would not receive additional signs.

The mayor, who is responsible for erecting signs, stated that he would study the situation further before implementing the ordinance.

Building permits were issued to four persons. Cecil Packer will erect a home at 32 Academy Street. He will also add a bedroom and garage to his present home at 22 Academy Street.

Glenn Ryan plans to erect a storage building at 35 Lincoln Street. Ralph Ashbaugh will add a family room with basement to his home at 15 Miron Street, and Cecil Cutlip will add a room at 42 Lincoln Street.

Council also approved reimbursement of tuition for any village resident who successfully completes the state sewer or water operations training program in Columbus. The course leads to a license in sewer or water plant operations.

Tuition is approximately $80, and the council will reimburse those who obtain their licenses. The deadline for applications is Aug. 27, and forms may be obtained at the clerk's office.

Routine bills in the amount of $595 were approved for payment.

Sen. Baker's home hit by burglars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The home of Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., was broken into but nothing was believed taken, an aide to the senator said.

Ron McMahan, Baker's press secretary, said the Tennessee Republican and his family were at his home in Huntsville, Tenn., when the incident occurred Monday night or Tuesday morning at the northwest Washington home.

McMahan said a safe was broken into but nothing was missing. Rings, fur coats and photography equipment were left undisturbed, he said.

McMahan quoted Baker as saying there was no confidential material in the house that could have been taken.

KSU jury hears retired officer

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Individual soldiers must decide for themselves in a riot when the threat to their lives is enough to shoot, a retired Army officer testified Tuesday in the damages suit stemming from the 1970 Kent State University shootings.

Edward L. King was called as a crowd control expert by the shooting victims but was permitted to give his opinions on military matters tying together several strands of the victims' case.

King, a former lieutenant colonel, said when Ohio National Guard officers sent troops onto the campus commons with loaded rifles, the leaders "in effect turned over to the individuals the decision when to fire."

The panel of seven men and five women deciding the claims was sent home early Tuesday after U.S. District Judge Don J. Young ruled that mothers of two students killed in the shooting had no relative testimony to offer.

Young told the jury his ruling was a matter of law and did not reflect on the parents or other plaintiffs. He said his judgment was that neither Mrs. Louis Schroeder, mother of William Schroeder, nor Mrs. Elaine Holstein, mother of Jeffrey Miller, could shed any light on questions raised by the suit.

King said National Guard procedures are supposed to be based on the Army's.

Army officers would not have ordered troops to load their weapons until all other crowd-control measures had been exhausted, King said.

King, who has written a book entitled, "The Death of the Army," criticizing some U.S. military policies,

In Municipal Court

Aggravated burglary suspect is arraigned

A Washington C.H., youth arrested Monday in connection with a chain of residential burglaries on the city's east side, was arraigned in Municipal Court Tuesday on three counts of aggravated burglary.

Donald P. Foxworth, 19, of 703 Church St., entered no plea to the three charges lodged against him by Washington C.H. police officers. He is presently charged with the burglaries at the residences of Charles C. Shepard, 824 Church St., Glenn Baker, 6 Winnepeg Plaza, and Harold Speelman, 853 Church St. Washington C.H. Police Chief Rodman Scott said the investigation into the other burglaries is still continuing and more charges are expected to be filed.

Preliminary hearing for Foxworth was scheduled for 8:30 a.m. Friday. A 24-year-old Greenfield man was fined and sentenced to jail after pleading guilty to a charge of possession of a hallucinogen.

Acting Judge John Case fined Steven T. Mootispaw, 24, $100 and costs and sentenced him to five days in the county jail. Mootispaw was arrested early Tuesday by sheriff's deputies on Ohio 41-S after they discovered marijuana in his car during a routine vehicle check.

Ralph W. Thomas, 20, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to six days in jail after pleading guilty to a shoplifting complaint filed by Sea-Way, CCC Highway-W.

Thomas was arrested after he attempted to leave the store without paying for a fog light he had picked up in the store.

Vernon E. Howland, 26, Rt. 3, Greenfield was found guilty of an assault charge and was fined $50 and costs. The complaint was filed by Shiela Howland.

Trespassing charges filed against Charles Beatty, 47, Mills Road, and Etta M. Beatty, 58, 812 S. North St., were dismissed by Judge Case. He ruled that the prosecuting witness, James Shelton, had failed to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendants were actually trespassing.

A disorderly conduct charge filed against Walter D. Aills Jr., 24, of 1218 Rawlings St., was dismissed when the prosecuting witness, Leroy Mongold, 813½ Sycamore St., failed to appear.

Lost lottery ticket means $15,000 gone

MOUNT LIBERTY, Ohio (AP) — Jerry Compton figures he's out only 50 cents.

But the winning lottery ticket he lost guaranteed him $15,020, and, with a little better luck, it could have brought home $1.3 million in state lottery earnings.

Here's what happened to Compton on the road from riches to rags:

Last Thursday, the Penn Central employee and some companions stopped in a local tavern at the time that week's lottery numbers were being announced.

Not only did Compton's ticket qualify him for the Buckeye 300, which guarantees winners at least $15,000 and up to $300,000, but he was a $20 winner as well. That would make him eligible for the periodic millionaire drawings, or one of several smaller cash prizes.

The new winner and his friends stayed to celebrate his luck and when Compton left, he stashed the ticket under the seatcover of his automobile for safety.

His wife, Jean, says her husband did not tell her of his good fortune, and on Friday, she took the car to Columbus.

"I took the car to Columbus Friday morning, when I got out, I noticed the ticket under the car seat and pushed it back under the cover," she said. "The only other place I stopped was to get gasoline on the way home."

Mrs. Compton said when she returned home, she was told of the winning ticket, and went to get it, but it was gone.

She said she drove back to the Columbus parking lot where she checked with the owner and the attendants, but they said no one had turned it in.

Betty Ford learning to love being First Lady

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Ford says she has found excitement and self-confidence in her first year in the White House, even though it was marked by illness and occasional loneliness. She's ready to campaign for her husband's election in 1976 by traveling with him as much as possible. She looks forward to continuing to do things "that interest me and that I've been involved in." The First Lady points out those things include continuing to push for passage of the Equal Rights Amendment, expressing interest in the performing arts and handicapped and retarded people. From being "scared to death" at the prospect of moving into the White House when her husband suddenly became president in August 1974, Mrs.

Ford has come to grips with life in the 132-room, 18-acre executive mansion. Responding to questions as the August anniversary date approached, Mrs. Ford told The Associated Press: "I had no idea when we came a year ago how many responsibilities there would be and decisions to be made as First Lady. I found that it was practically a seven-day-week, 24-hour-a-day job." From entertaining a dozen heads of state to answering an average of 2,000 letters a week, Mrs. Ford has been coping with that job. "Gradually, I've gained more confidence in my ability to handle situations," she added.

Sports Mart

MIAMI TRACE FOOTBALL Coach Fred Zechman said his gridders will make use of all three interscholastic football scrimmages this year.

The Panther mentor feels his squad will have to make full use of the allowed scrimmages because of the squad's inexperience.

The dates and teams are tentative according to Zechman, but the third-year head coach said he has been trying since December to schedule some tough competition for the preseason workouts.

Blue Lion Coach Maurice Pfeifer plans to use just two of the three allowed scrimmages. The first such workout is scheduled for Saturday, August 23, but the team and place are tentative.

The traditional scrimmage with West Jefferson is slated for August 29. Coach Pfeifer said the Friday night date was made to make the best use of regular season game conditions.

Both Fayette County squads will issue equipment and start two-a-day practices next Wednesday.

An acclimation policy set by the Ohio High School Athletic Association will postpone contact drills until August 18.

The four-day policy of getting prep gridders used to the summer heat calls for two days of drills without equipment and one day of drills in equipment but without contact before normal practices are held.

SOUTHERN STATE COLLEGE may bring collegiate basketball to Fayette County this fall.

The college's head coach Bob Jacoby said tentative plans call for the Patriots to play home games at high school gymnasiums in the five-county area.

Miami Trace and Washington Senior High School are possible sites for home games, if local school boards accept such policies.

Jacoby said he has contacted two or three Fayette County cage prospects about attending Southern State, but he is keeping the names secret until classes at the college begin next month.

HILLSBORO GRID Coach Mike Doyle has wasted little time in revealing his prognosis for the upcoming high school campaign.

Even though his players have yet to don football helmets, he is looking forward to a much improved year, and he has even gone as far as hinting that his junior signal caller, Tyler Woods, could be the best quarterback in the South Central Ohio League this year.

Doyle has a good basis for his optimistic outlook as the Indians return 14 lettermen including the starting offensive backfield.

The Hillsboro mentor admits to having a "lack of bench strength" and an abundance of small linemen, but he expects the Indians to improve on last year's 2-8 mark.

As far as the rest of the league, Doyle pegs Miami Trace and Circleville as preseason favorites, and Washington C. H. and Greenfield as possible title contenders.

The Blue Lions will host Hillsboro September 26 while Miami Trace visits the Indians the following week.

THE WATERLOO WONDERS, one of the most famous high school teams in Ohio's sports history, will be honored at the 105th annual Rio Grande Bean Dinner Saturday.

The Wonders, all past students at Waterloo High School, thrilled fans 40 years ago with ballplaying that brought the prep players from the hills of southeastern Ohio to the national spotlight.

Their playing skills were matched by their ability to entertain fans with behind-the-back passing and many antics that are now standard moves for the Harlem Globetrotters.

In 1936 the Wonders played the nation's best pro team, the original Celtics, and lost by a few points before topping the Celtics 47-39 in a rematch.

The Wonders now all in their late fifties are expected to attend the Rio Grande festivities at the Bob Evans Farms. Guard Stewart Wiseman, who played guard for the Wonders, now lives in Chillicothe, while captain Curtis McMahon and center Orlyn Roberts live in Dayton.

TENNIS GREAT, Stan Smith, has joined the field for the 1975 Buckeye Tennis Championships August 12-18 at the Buckeye Boys Ranch near Columbus.

Smith was co-ranked with Jimmy Connors as the number one ranked tennis player by the USLTA in 1974.

Smith joins what promoters call "the greatest field in the tournaments six-year history." Other players in the 32-man field are Raul Ramirez, Roscoe Tanner, the Amritraj brothers, Tom Gorman and Bob Lutz.

Played for the benefit of the Buckeye Boys Ranch, the Buckeye is the only professional tennis tournament played in Central Ohio and it is the only tournament played exclusively for charity.

Tennis fans can obtain ticket applications at any office of the City National Bank of Columbus.

AN ADDED FEATURE to Cincinnati Reds fans planning to attend the August 31 game with the St. Louis Cardinals will be the handing out of a full color wall poster of Tony Perez to everyone under 21 years of age.

Perez's likeness is the sixth in a series of individual poster the Reds have produced.

Perez, a long-time favorite of Reds' fans, is the only active major leaguer to knock in 90 or more runs in each of the past eight seasons.

Cameron and Cobb scheduled to start

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Only a week after facing one Super Bowl champion, Cincinnati Bengals rookies Glenn Cameron and Marvin Cobb are slated to face another, as they are scheduled to start for the Bengals Saturday night against the Miami Dolphins.

"It just seems that Cobb and Cameron belong," said Coach Paul Brown after the pair went through their first workout at training camp here. "They have quickness, balance, mobility and know-how and it's a very encouraging thing."

Borbon, McEnaney cool Giants

Stars rest; Reds still win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — All-Stars Johnny Bench, Joe Morgan and Tony Perez were missing from Cincinnati's lineup Tuesday night. But the Reds looked like the same old first place team, beating the Giants 6-3.

"We're proving, I think, that everyone on this club can do the job," said Dan Driessen, first base fill-in for Perez, who got two of the Reds' 13 hits off Giants starter Ed Halicki, 5-9, and reliever Dave Heaverlo.

"We know Driessen's a good hitter. I'm pretty sure he'd hit .300 if he played every day," said Manager Sparky Anderson.

Driessen scored in the seventh inning, breaking a 3-3 tie, on a single by Cesar Geronimo, who totaled three hits in the victory. Driessen had walked and reached second base on Halicki's wild pickoff throw to first.

Ken Griffey opened a two-run ninth inning rally off Heaverlo with a double, his third hit, and Driessen contributed an infield single which raised his average to .263.

Bench, Morgan and Perez rested Tuesday night. Bench was scheduled for his fourth consecutive day off today, resting a sore shoulder, and Anderson said shortstop Dave Concepcion also would sit out the final game of the Reds' road trip.

Pete Rose had two hits Tuesday night, was offered time off but told Anderson, "We have an off-day Thursday. That will be my day off."

Rose is just 51 hits away from the 200-mark he's reached six times in his 13-year career.

Anderson went to his bullpen after starter Clay Kirby struggled through five innings. Pedro Borbon and Will McEnaney allowed just one hit the rest of the way.

"You get the victory and I'll take the save; that's okay by me," left-hander McEnaney told Borbon, now 7-3. Left-hander McEnaney got his 11th save with 2 1-3 innings of hitless pitching.

Shortstop Chris Speier is out of the San Francisco Giants' lineup with a sore back and Manager Wes Westrum admits, "We're a different club without him."

Westrum's club dropped under .500, with a 55-56 record, but he didn't see the last three innings of the loss, getting ejected by umpire Jerry Dale for protesting a close play at first base in the sixth.

The Giants are 14-9 since the mid-July All-Star game break but 1-5 against the Reds.

Pirates 6, Cards 1

Despite the offensive explosion, the Phils failed to cut into Pittsburgh's 4½-game lead in the East Division. Richie Zisk, Duffy Dyer and Bill Robinson made sure of that, driving in two runs apiece to beat St. Louis.

Dyer and Robinson each had two-run triples while Zisk divided his work with a double and a homer to back Jim Rooker's seven-hitter.

Dodgers 5, Braves 0

Like the Phils, the Dodgers came out on top but went nowhere in the standings, remaining 15½ games back of Cincinnati in the West.

Bengals resume workouts

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals resumed workouts Tuesday in preparation for Saturday's exhibition game against the Miami Dolphins, already having trimmed their squad below its Aug. 12 limit.

Under National Football League rules, clubs must be down to 60 players by that date, but the Bengals, in training at Wilmington College here, have 59. That does not include three College All-Stars, who do not count until the final cut is made.

"We would only waive someone now if we feel the position is amply covered and the guy doesn't have a chance," said Coach Paul Brown.

Though none of the team seems to be injured seriously, the list of Bengals out of action temporarily includes defensive end Royce Berry, cornerback Bernard Jackson, tight end Bruce Coslet, running back Ed Williams and wide receiver Chip Myers.

Teeth are also a problem on the club. Defensive back Lemar Parrish had an infected tooth pulled Tuesday and offensive tackle Vern Holland has two bad wisdom teeth destined for extraction.

Don Sutton blitzed the Braves with a five-hitter to chalk up his 40th career shutout and become the NL's first 15-game winner. Jimmy Wynn's 16th homer gave him all he needed.

Padres 6, Astros 5

It was a rolling ball that knocked Houston off the tracks against the Padres. Bobby Tolan singled with two out in the 10th and moved to second on a balk before Fred Kendall hit a roller to shortstop Jerry Davanon, who fumbled it to let Tolan score the winning run.

Expos 7-7, Mets 0-0

The Mets got a double dose of the blash from Montreal's pitching staff and, for the sixth time in 10 twinbills this year, came out on the short end in both games.

Don Carrithers pitched a fivehitter in the first game, then Dennis Blair and Woodie Fryman teamed for one in the nightcap. Bob Bailey and Barry Foote homered in the opener and Pete Mackanin drove in two runs in the second game.

Yankees 4, Brewers 3

Bobby Bonds' home run in the ninth inning carried Catfish Hunter and New York over Milwaukee. Bond's homer, his 22nd of the season but only his first since July 20, helped New York's premier right-hander improve his record to 15-10. Hunter scattered nine hits.

Nicklaus favored in PGA tourney

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The familiar "Watch Out for Jack Nicklaus" chant reverberated over the Firestone Country Club today on the eve of the 57th PGA Golf Championship, but Gary Player had his hearing aid turned off.

"I never go into a tournament thinking this man or that man is the man to beat," the gritty little South African said. "When I first took up the game I was taught that the course and not the individual is the adversary."

"The course is the monster. The course is the villain. My job is to whip the course. I try to concentrate on that. I don't look over my shoulder at anybody."

Winner of the event twice with a 10-year gap—1962 and 1972—as part of his cache of 24 national championships, Player is one of the favorites in the field of 139 teeing off Thursday over the 7,180-yard, par-70 course.

Nicklaus is the No. 1 favorite at 6-1, followed by Lee Trevino and Johnny Miller at 8-1; Player, Tom Weiskopf and Tom Watson at 10-1, and Gene Littler, Hale Irwin and host pro Bobby Nichols 12-1.

"Of course, if you pinned me down," Player added, softening his original statement somewhat, "and asked me who I pick outside of myself—a man must always figure he's going to win—I would follow the expected line.

"I would have to say Nicklaus. He has to be the choice because of his strength, hitting power and the best brain in the game."

"I have great respect for both Nicklaus and Lee Trevino. Trevino can't be overlooked because he drives the ball so straight and is so good around the greens."

As for his No. 1 antagonist, this sprawling layout which has been the regular site of the annual World Weries, Player called it "one of the most difficult tests in golf."

"It is long, it is tough. There's a lot of heavy rough and the greens are generally small. It will take a good player in full control of his game to win here."

Trades, cuts mark football

By The Associated Press

Some got traded, bounced or battered; others merely were shoved: just the usual preseason rough stuff among players at National Football League camps across the country.

Several deals were made in the marketplace Tuesday, among them the Washington Redskins' signing of defensive tackle Dave Butz, a three-year man formerly with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Coach George Allen described the 24-year-old Butz, a free agent who stands 6-foot-7 and weighs 295, as "the biggest guy I've ever had," and said the Redskins and Cardinals are "trying to work out something" in the form of compensation for St. Louis.

Allen said that Butz, recovering from a knee injury, would be used sparingly in the beginning, but hinted that he hoped Butz might develop into a replacement for Deacon Jones, who retired in the off-season.

Later in the day, Charley Harraway, fullback for the Redskins from 1969 until jumping to the World Football League last year, announced his retirement.

The Denver Broncos obtained defensive back Jeff Severson from the Houston Oilers Tuesday for an undisclosed 1976 draft choice, and the Kansas City Chiefs traded veteran offensive guard Tom Humphrey to the Atlanta Falcons for rookie offensive guard John Nessel of Penn State.

Also, a host of veterans and rookies were placed on waivers as teams hastened to trim their rosters for exhibition openers this weekend.

The Chicago Bears cut six players, including veteran running back Gary Kosins, who was in his fourth season with the team.

The Detroit Lions lost two key defensive players Tuesday when tackle Jim Mitchell and defensive back Dick Jauron suffered injuries during the afternoon workouts.

Surgery for Varicose Veins

I developed varicose veins after the birth of my second child. I've been told that there is a new operation that can be done in the doctor's office.

My doctor doesn't know about this. Can you tell me more about it?

Mrs. H.H., S.C.

Dear Mrs. H.: I cannot imagine who the "authority" was who gave you this information. I know of no surgical procedure for varicose veins that can be safely performed in the doctor's office.

Operations that tie off the veins, or strip the veins, are performed for maximum safety in hospitals.

Some small varicose veins can be treated in the doctor's office by the injection method. Special drugs that are injected directly into tiny varicose veins can obliterate them.

This procedure is not an effective substitute for the more comprehensive surgical treatment used for larger and more extensive varicose vein problems.

Far too many people are tempted by shortcut, magical cures when surgery is the simplest, safest and most beneficial approach to the problem of varicose veins.

Is it necessary to cauterize the nose when there is a tendency to nose bleeds?

Mr. R.U., Nev.

Dear Mr. U.: Most nose bleeds, or "epistaxis," can be controlled by putting a large piece of absorbent cotton in the nose and firmly squeezing the nostrils.

Pressure should be kept for about 10 minutes, to allow for nature's protective clotting to occur. The cotton should be left for about half an hour so that this blood clot will not be dislocated.

Bleeding is caused by a broken blood vessel, usually about half an inch inside the nose. If the exact site of the bleeding is seen by the doctor he can cauterize this spot with silver nitrate, acetic acid or with an electric spark.

When repeated episodes of bleeding occur, there is a greater need for cauterization. Occasionally, a large blood vessel deep inside the nose may break. Cauterization here is difficult, and nasal packing is used instead.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism: A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers helpful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 578, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Opening lead - seven of hearts.

The study of card combinations — and how to deal with them — is highly rewarding, but there is always the danger of misapplying this knowledge.

Consider the diamond combination in this deal. If declarer's only problem were to win four diamond tricks, he would do best, in the long run, to try two finesses. This method succeeds when West has the king, the queen, or both.

But under some circumstances, declarer may do better by adopting a different approach. Here is such a case.

West leads a heart and South plays the queen from dummy. (If he plays the ten, East can defeat the contract by playing the jack.) East wins the queen with the ace, returns the jack, ducked by South, and then the nine, taken by the king.

Declarer has only eight tricks at this stage, and his best chance for a ninth obviously lies in diamonds. But South realizes that if he follows standard operating procedure and takes a diamond finesse, he will be defeated if East has either the king or the queen.

He therefore plays the jack of diamonds but goes up with the ace after West follows low. Luckily, he catches the king and makes four notrump by continuing the suit.

The basis for rejecting the diamond finesse is extremely sound. South reasons that he cannot make the contract if East has the guarded king or queen. His only real chance is to assume that West has the K-Q or that East has a singleton honor.

He therefore assigns East a diamond holding that permits the contract to be made. Going up with the ace is sure to give him the contract, if he gets lucky, but it cannot possibly be the cause of his losing the contract. The special circumstances offer him no other choice.

Two youths hurt in rural crackup

A Washington C.H. youth's auto was severely damaged and he and his passenger were injured when his car struck a tree and fence at Cedar Hurst, 2064 Miami Trace Rd., at 10 p.m. Tuesday.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported Robert O. Phillips, 17, of 2079 Dortha Drive, failed to negotiate a left curve on Miami Trace Road, four-tenths of a mile east of Rock Mills-Good Hope Road, spun around and traveled into the ditch, tree and fence. Phillips and his passenger, Danny L. Lowe, 18, Ohio 41-S, showed visible signs of injury at the accident scene, but it is not known whether or not they were treated.

It was the only traffic accident reported by sheriff's deputies today. Washington C.H. police investigated four accidents Tuesday.

An unidentified driver struck parked cars belonging to Donna L. Hinkley, 1114 Columbus Ave., and Ronald L. Kearns, 616 Delaware St., at 11:10 p.m. Tuesday. Washington C.H. police reported Kearns had been working on the Hinkley auto while it was parked with his in front of 616 Delaware St. residence when he saw an auto coming down the street headed his way. The hit-skip vehicle struck the left front fender of Ms. Hinkley's car and right door of his own auto. Police are seeking the driver responsible.

Cars driven by Lowell D. Shaw, 46, of 216 W. Temple St., and Richard L. Rich, 20, of 930 Dayton Ave., collided at

WCH voters to decide issue

Income tax repeal placed on ballot

Petitions seeking to repeal the city's one per cent income tax now in effect were filed early Wednesday with the Fayette County Board of Elections to be placed on the November general election ballot.

The petitions were filed with the board of elections by Washington C.H. city auditor Jack Stackhouse shortly after 9 a.m. Wednesday, just seven hours before the filing deadline.

The filing deadline for the Nov. 4 general election is 4 p.m. today.

Stackhouse said the petitions contained a total of 484 valid signatures. After checking the petitions during a 10-day public inspection period at the city office building, Stackhouse invalidated only 34 signatures.

Only 373 valid signatures were needed by petitions to place the issue on the ballot. A total of 518 signatures were collected when the repeal petitions were circulated.

The income tax repeal action was initiated by a three-member committee of William R. Black, 122 W. Market St., Charles F. Pensyl, 613 S. Main St., and C.L. (Luke) Musser, 811 Briar Ave.

The one per cent city income tax became effective for collection purposes April 1. The income tax ordinance was approved by Washington C.H. City Council as an emergency measure after three consecutive readings in March.

Five of the seven city council members indicated the one per cent income tax was the only manner for the city to overcome its financial woes. City officials estimated municipal government operations would have faced a $233,000 deficit in the general fund this year without an income tax.

If Washington C.H. voters repeal the tax in November, it will mark the second time in two years city residents have rejected a municipal income tax.

Last November Washington C.H. voters rejected a city council offer to exchange 4.3-mills of property taxes for a 1.25 per cent income tax. The proposal was defeated by nearly a 6-1 vote.

In 1971, city council members approved a one per cent income tax as an emergency measure. The city collected taxes from April, when the ordinance became effective, until after the November election that year when it was removed after voters approved initiative petitions.

Council also approved legislation in 1966 to provide an income tax of one per cent as a non-emergency measure. The public defeated the tax issue by a referendum vote.

ALSO FILED Tuesday with the county board of elections was a petition for the sale of spirituous liquor by the glass in Perry Township. The liquor question has been defeated in several other previous elections.

Candidates filing petitions were: Willard Dice, 2981 Harmony Road, for Jasper Township clerk;

Harlan Hoppes, Jeffersonville, for Jeffersonville village board of public affairs;

Helen Anderson, Milledgeville, for Milledgeville clerk-treasurer;

Nelson C. Baker, Jeffersonville, for Jeffersonville village board of public affairs;

Marguerite Flax, Jeffersonville, for clerk of Jeffersonville village council; Martin Smith, Rt. 1, Washington C.H. for Perry Township trustee;

William Stolzenburg Jr., 1104 Rawlings St., for Washington C.H. City Council;

Herbert Burton, 2278 Greenfield-Sabina Road, for Green Township trustee;

Philip Grover, 2906 Parrott-Station Road, for Fayette County Board of Education;

Gordon McCarty, Jeffersonville, for Jeffersonville mayor;

Marvin Dement, 17015 Ohio 41-N, for Fayette County Board of Education;

Marvin Brown, Jeffersonville, for Jeffersonville village council;

Robert Highfield, 419 Van Deman St., for Washington C.H. Board of Education;

Walter E. (Gene) Bienz, 417 Van Deman St., for Washington C.H. Board of Education; and

Measure demands several changes

County board members study new school bill

BY MARK THELLMANN

A new equal yield school bill, recently approved by the Ohio legislature, was the primary topic of discussion at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Fayette County Board of Education Tuesday night.

Superintendent Guy Foster briefed board members about the equal yield school bill passed by the Ohio House of Representatives May 14 and recently passed in the Ohio Senate. The bill, which presently is awaiting Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes' signature, is designed to assure an equal local tax effort be rewarded with an equal return.

The concept of equality would demand many changes in the certified and non-certified employee's pay scales working within the Miami Trace School District. Foster stated that under the bill's new formula, $11 less would be received per pupil from state funds and in order to receive the balance, the board would have to meet certain financial requirements directly affecting the district's employee salary scale.

"The state minimum for beginning certified teachers stands presently at $6,400," Foster explained. "Our district pays $7,250, but the new bill would raise the minimum in the fall to $7,400 and the per cent of increase would follow up the ladder accordingly for the salaries of non-certified and certified employees." Foster also said the bill would raise the minimum salary to $7,900 the following year and his main concern, as was the concern of other board members, was where the money would come from when 25 kindergarten children are forced to meet in a church basement in New Holland and repairs and expansions are necessary with the present pupil load in all the county school buildings.

The bill also introduced measures requiring a certain number of certified people within the system per number of students. For example two certified persons in the areas of guidance counseling, library personal, physical education, music and art would be required per 1,000 students. The bill then requires three persons per 1,000 students the following year, four per 1,000 the next and five per 1,000 after that. Discussion on the new bill is expected to continue during future board meetings. It is not expected to be vetoed by the governor.

Board members also dealt with resignations, contract adjustments, student accident insurance, tuition rates, one-year supplemental contracts, leases, the non-certified employee calendar and the possibility of purchasing a small bus or van to transport athletes to events and students on field trips.

Irma Pierce, assistant cook at Miami Trace High School, was granted resignation effective Sept. 1.

Martha Evans, sixth-grade teacher at Wilson Elementary School, was granted employment on a half-year basis with salary to be adjusted accordingly.

New one-year teacher contracts effective Aug. 28 were awarded to Ruth Leese, English teacher at Miami Trace High School and Eber Junior High School; Anita Pruitt, vocal music teacher at Wayne and Wilson elementary schools; and Jane Morner, librarian at Miami Trace High School. Board members authorized Superintendent Foster to hire a vocal music teacher for the high school.

Board members awarded Pennington Bread the bread bid, Model Dairy the milk bid and Clary Coal the coal bid. Bill Pool Insurance received the student accident insurance bid.

A tuition rate of $44.86 per month (a $5 increase) was established by board members for students wishing to attend the Miami Trace school system residing outside the district. The new rate also carries a clause stating the money must be paid the first of every month and once a month is missed, the student is dropped from the district.

Traci Brown, Elm Street, and Phillip Swiger, Jamestown, were granted permission by board members to attend the county school district. Doug McClure Jr., received permission to be released from the county school district to finish his senior year at Washington Senior High School.

After much discussion and difference of opinion, a majority vote of board members ruled in favor of renewing the $1,100 lease on the New Holland Methodist Church basement in order to

Hoffa's private notes being studied by FBI

DETROIT (AP) — The FBI is studying some of Jimmy Hoffa's private notes in an effort to retrace activities of the ex-Teamster boss just before he disappeared, a source said today.

Hoffa vanished a week ago after he left for a scheduled luncheon meeting at a fashionable suburban restaurant.

A man who identified himself as Hoffa's foster son, Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, told a Detroit television station that he, O'Brien, was safe. But he offered no explanation for the fact he hadn't talked to the Hoffa family since last Thursday.

FBI officials said O'Brien is one of several persons they would like to talk with, although there was no search for the 41-year-old union organizer who was raised by Hoffa from the age of 3.

It was not known precisely who else the FBI sought to interview.

The FBI refused to discuss Hoffa's notes, which were offered by his family. But a source close to the investigation said the material was "one of numerous" leads the bureau was pursuing.

A source said the notes include the names of union officials, business associates and politicians acquainted with Hoffa.

Like Hoffa, the skilled contract bargainer, his family thinks that money talks.

The family posted a $200,000 reward Tuesday for information revealing the whereabouts "and-or leading to the safe return" of the missing former Teamsters union president and announced that persons wanting to add to the stipend could send money to "The Jimmy Hoffa Reward Fund."

Contrary to some published reports, Jay E. Bailey, the FBI's chief investigator, said the bureau is working under the assumption that Hoffa is alive.

Bailey said, "We have no information that he is alive, but we have none that he is dead, either. We have no information."

A theory drifting through Detroit was that Hoffa was victim of someone who feared he might assist a federal investigation of union activities. Hoffa appeared before a grand jury earlier this summer and pleaded the Fifth Amendment — unusual for the man who always prided himself on taking on one-and-all tough government queries.

It also was reported that O'Brien could be a key man in the federal probe.

A man who identified himself as O'Brien phoned WXYZ-TV Tuesday night and said that he was safe. Earlier, Hoffa's son, Detroit attorney James P. Hoffa, said he last heard from O'Brien last Thursday — the day after Hoffa disappeared.

"We're trying to find him," the younger Hoffa said.

Friends said it is not unusual for O'Brien to disappear for a few days. But they were surprised that he was missing now because he was very close to Hoffa and could be expected to stay with the family.

The man who called WXYZ-TV said he is away on union business, then declined to discuss Hoffa's disappearance.

Coffee Break . .

DO YOU have an old parking meter ticket around the house you haven't paid yet?

If so, it would be advisable to take care of it before the end of the week.

City auditor Jack Stackhouse said employees at the city office building are presently in the process of sending notices to parking meter violators who have not paid the fines within 30 days.

Stackhouse said those not taking care of the parking meter fines will be issued notices to appear in Washington C.H. Municipal Court.

The notices will be mailed early next week, he said.

2,015,076 signatures obtained

Bond issue petitions filed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes planned to submit 2,015,076 signatures to the secretary of state today in an effort to get his four economic proposals on the fall ballot.

A minimum of 307,202 signatures validated by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown are needed to put the proposals to a vote by the populace. Rhodes said he was filing 63 per cent more signatures than necessary.

Brown said it would take several weeks to check Rhodes signatures.

Rhodes said the signatures came from the state's 88 counties. He said passage of the proposals would help eliminate unemployment for 600,000 Ohioans.

Rhodes' refusal to go along with any substantial changes by the legislature miffed Democrats, particularly in the Senate where some members objected to the size of his proposed multi-billion dollar bond issues and the taxes that would be hiked to pay them off.

Even if the signatures go beyond the required 307,202, there remains a requirement for each to be checked by county election boards to determine if they are valid. Only qualified voters are permitted to sign such papers.

Secretary Brown said the check by the boards could take two or three weeks, and possibly longer. After this is done, if the petitioners are short, then the law provides another 10 days to make up the deficiency.

Former State Rep. Keith McNamara of Columbus, a spokesman for Ohioans for Jobs and Progress, said the petitions met the stipulation that the signatures come from voters in at least half of the 88 counties.

He said that requirement, along with the fact that signers had to affix their signatures on one sheet for each of the four issues, was ignored by many who said they felt the issues had been less than enthusiastically received among Ohio's citizens. "That added significantly to our efforts," he said.

Rhodes, if successful in getting his propositions on the ballot, will ask Ohioans to authorize:

—A $2.75 billion bond issue to finance massive improvements in cities and municipalities all across the state, the bonds to be paid off over 30 years with a seven tenths of a per cent increase in the existing four per cent sales tax.

—A $1.75 billion bond issue for all types of transportation, bonds to be retired over three decades with a nine tenths of a cent boost in Ohio's seven cents a gallon gasoline tax.

—A tax abatement plan to forgive taxes over long periods for industries locating in or expanding existing facilities in Ohio.

At Scioto Downs

Shelby woman winner of $1 million drawing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Glenda Stexton of Shelby carried a horseshoe for luck during Tuesday night's fifth Ohio millionaire lottery drawing, but it was a whole horse named Jacquet that paid off for her.

The 32-year-old mother of two, one of 10 finalists at Scioto Downs, drew horse No. 3 for the determining race, then had to wait a few moments longer when the Millionaire Derby ended in a photo finish.

But when the results flashed on the board, Mrs. Stexton was declared winner of $50,000 for each of the next 20 years, making her the state's newest millionaire.

Winner of the second top money of $100,000 was Shirley Spence, 33, of Spencerville, and Mildred L. Burroughs of Blanchester went home from the races with the $50,000 third-place money.

Mrs. Stexton said she and her husband, Raymond, 35, an employee of GAF Shelby Business Forms, had "joked around about winning the money, but we really thought there was a very slim chance." That's why she carried the horseshoe and a rabbit's foot for luck.

"We haven't made any plans about what we'll do with the money," her husband said. "We probably won't do anything with it for a year or two, then maybe we'll build a new house."

He said he didn't anticipate the money causing any major changes for the family.

Mrs. Stexton said she bought lottery tickets regularly, averaging four to six a week, and the ticket which brought her to Columbus for the million-dollar drawing was her third $20 winner.

Ralph J. Spence said he and his wife will use part of their $100,000 second-prize money first to buy a house.

"We're renting now. We lost the house we owned in February when we had to go bankrupt," he said.

"You talk about a new life, Mrs. Spence said. 'We're going to have one now.'"

They have three children.

Other finalists, each of whom will receive $10,000, were Maxine Marie Hukill, 50, of Massillon, Mrs. Gerald R. Bleakley, 51, of Marietta, John F. Jendrus Sr., 56, of Parma, Patricia Baldwin, 33, of Cleveland, Helen Tyjewski, 33, of Euclid, James T. Clevenger, 39, of Farmland, Ind., and Jesse W. McVey, 51, of Mount Orab.

Ten of the remaining 90 who were on the original list for the drawing were awarded a special bonus when Mrs. Stexton drew their names. All others received $1,000.

Candidate for accreditation status granted to Southern State College

WILMINGTON — Southern State General and Technical College has been named a candidate for accreditation by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, according to Dr. Lewis C. Miller, president of Southern State College.

North Central's Commission on Institutions of Higher Education voted to grant candidate for accreditation status to Southern State College as an associate degree-granting institution at its July 24 meeting. The committee's action was based on the results of two separate evaluations of the college and its program completed by North Central review teams in May and July.

Dr. Miller said that accreditation is vital to a college for two main reasons. First, it assures that credits earned can be transferred to other institutions if a student intends to change colleges or pursue additional degrees. Second, accreditation will make Southern State College students eligible for federally-funded student loans. He emphasized that the candidate for accreditation status has equal significance to full accreditation with regard to credit transfer and federal loan programs. Normally a college must operate successfully for four or five years and submit a self-study report before it receives full membership in the North Central Association.

In his letter informing Southern State College of the North Central Association's decision, commission director Thurston E. Manning commended Dr. Miller and the staff on the progress that has been made in developing the institution.

Southern State College, Ohio's newest general and technical college, offers two-year programs in general liberal arts, technical education, and adult continuing education that lead to the award of the associate degree. Southern State College will grant degrees in the arts, applied science, and applied business.

The college was chartered by the Ohio Board of Regents to begin operations on July 1. Active recruitment of students for the fall quarter is now in progress. Classes will begin September 25.

Created primarily to serve the residents of Adams, Brown, Clinton, Fayette, and Highland counties, Southern State College has attendance centers in Wilmington and at Eastern High School on U.S. 62 between Macon and Fincastle. Students from the northern part of the five-county area will attend classes at the Laurel Oaks Career Development Campus on the former site of the Clifton County Air Force Base. Students in the south now attend evening classes at Eastern High, but will move to a new facility in Macon scheduled for completion in September, 1976.

Southern State College has an open admissions policy designed to serve the non-traditional student including veterans and adults who have had their college educations postponed but who now wish to pursue a degree. Leisure time non-credit courses will also be offered to adults who want to learn new skills or study certain subjects for enjoyment.

Full time instructional and general fees for Ohio resident students are less than $800 for the academic year. Basic tuition at Southern State College is $15 per credit hour. Flexible course scheduling will be convenient for students who want to attend classes but who also work full or part-time.

By special agreement between Southern State College and Wilmington College, a four-year liberal arts college operated by the Society of Friends, Southern State students at the north campus will attend liberal arts classes at Wilmington College and have access to Wilmington College facilities, including the library. Students enrolled at Southern State will pay the Southern State tuition rate for all classes taken at Wilmington College.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Warren Burge

SABINA — Mrs. Latha L. Burge, 63, Reesville, died at 11:35 a.m. Tuesday in Fayette Memorial Hospital, Washington C. H., after a four-day illness.

A native of Morrow, Mrs. Burge was formerly a cashier for the Super Value Store in Wilmington. She spent most of her life in the Morrow community and in Clinton County.

Woman to fight contempt ruling

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Jill Raymond, whose contempt of court ruling was upheld by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here Tuesday, said she expected the decision and plans to appeal.

Miss Raymond was jailed in March when she refused to testify before a federal grand jury in Lexington, Ky. The grand jury was looking into the whereabouts of fugitives Susan Saxe and Katherine Powers, who were on the FBI's 10 Most Wanted list stemming from a Boston bank robbery in which a policeman was killed.

Miss Raymond and five other present or former Kentucky students were granted immunity from prosecution and only she declined to testify.

Northerly winds brought cool air to the area today, giving the air conditioners a rest for a few days. A cold front moved south of the Ohio River last night, accompanied by scattered showers.

Some of the heavier rainfalls were over a third of an inch at Toledo, and a half inch at Chesapeake on the Ohio River. However, some locations had no rain at all in the past 24 hours.

The showers were ending from the northwest and will give way to partly cloudy skies this afternoon and tonight.

A high pressure followed the front over Lake Superior this morning, and by Thursday will be moving eastward across the lower Great Lakes, giving fair weather Thursday and Friday.

Temperatures late last night were in the 60s over the state, and dropped to 58 at Toledo. Readings this afternoon were forecast at 70 near Lake Erie, and the mid 70s farther south.

Lows for tonight are forecast in the cool 50s. Sunshine Thursday should push the mercury back up into the mid 70s.

Fair Friday. A chance of showers Saturday and Sunday. Highs in the low 80s Friday and in the mid to upper 80s Saturday and Sunday.

Stock prices turn mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today after making another brief and half-hearted rally attempt.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up about 3 points at mid-morning, showed only a .16 gain at 8:10.31 by noon. Gainers trailed losers by about a 4-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading was moderate. Analysts said it appeared the market was still handcuffed by concern that rising interest rates and inflation would stall the expected recovery from the recession.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index lost .28 to 87.05. Still looming over the market was the government's report due Thursday on the July wholesale price index. Since late last month Wall Street has been bracing for a substantial rise in the index.

The NYSE's composite index slipped .14 to 45.95.

Hocking sheriff named in suit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $1 million suit was filed against Sheriff Paul Hartman of Hocking County by a Fairfield County youth who was burned in a fire in a jail cell last year.

The $500,000 punitive and $500,000 compensatory damages action was brought this week by Mark Williams in U.S. District Court.

The suit contends that Williams suffered burns over 80 per cent of his body when the Hocking County jail cell he was in caught fire Aug. 1, 1974. Williams contends that the sheriff had a legal duty to secure his safety while locked up.

Williams was arrested the night before the fire on a charge of leaving the Fairfield School for Boys without authorization, the suit says.

Higher liquor taxes proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Department of Health, Education and Welfare staff paper proposes boosting liquor taxes and restricting liquor advertising as part of the effort to reduce death and disease caused by alcoholic beverages.

CIA makes profit on front operations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency has made significant profits on two of its front operations, CIA Director William E. Colby testified today.

Colby told the House intelligence committee in prepared testimony that the CIA made considerable profits from Air America, an airline that aided CIA efforts in Southeast Asia, and from a CIA pension fund.

Air America is being disposed of while the pension fund continues to operate, although Colby said the profits have been turned into the Treasury since 1973. Colby did not specify the profit levels.

Most of the CIA's front operations, which the agency calls proprietaries, have been unprofitable, the director said.

"I foresee a continuing need to use the proprietary mechanism to further accomplishment of agency operations," Colby said.

Colby defined proprietaries as "apparently commercial entities that are in reality controlled by the agency." He said, "Such companies provide cover and support for clandestine activities and enable us to carry out administrative tasks discreetly."

Most proprietaries have fewer than ten employees, but "a very few of our former proprietaries, such as Radio Free Europe and Air America, have been fairly large entities."

The pension fund was described by Colby as "a financial enterprise which enables the agency to administer certain sensitive trusts, annuities, escrows and insurance arrangements without attribution to the agency. It enables us to insure with a controlled company some of our activities we could not expose to regular insurance companies. It enables us to pay annuities to individuals whose links with the U.S.

government must remain secret."

In the past, the proprietary companies retained their profits, Colby said. The intelligence chief said that by 1973 "accumulated profits amounted to a considerable sum" so the excess was reported to Congress and used to reduce the amount appropriated.

However, the CIA's general counsel advised that this did not constitute the full appropriations process and "subsequent profits have been and will be delivered to the Treasury," Colby said.

High-level tax protest

There are essentially two schools of thought about paying taxes (we exclude, for the moment, those whose rally cry is "Don't!") Most citizens tend to follow the principle that the only thing to do is bow to fate and pay up without making a fuss. Others think making a fuss is the name of the game.

Thus it would appear, at any rate.

They pounce on errors - those of the government, that is - as cats on mice. Having pounced, they protest. And often enough to make it interesting, disputed claims are resolved in their favor.

Some timid folk consider this approach not quite respectable. Nonsense. No less a personage than Prime Minister Pierre Elliott

Trudeau of Canada has just joined the ranks of the protesters: he complains that last year's taxes on his lakeside lot in the Laurentians were eight dollars too high. So view tax bills with a skeptical eye, folks, and protest disputed items. If this course is good enough for the prime minister of Canada, who are we to hang back?

Disneyland in D.C.

WASHINGTON (KFS) — In a couple of hours I am going to climb on a plane home and then head for Martha's Vineyard and a brief vacation from the affairs of the world and nation. Curiously the thing that has impressed me about Washington is that the government of the United States seems to be on vacation. Of course the President is off detenting (which is one way of defining a vacation from political reality), but the "world's greatest deliberative body" — which is not scheduled to recess until Aug. 7 — appears to be equally out of touch.

Perhaps the most vivid symbol of the Disneyland atmosphere was the takeoff of former Senator Fred Harris, who is stumping the country in a house trailer as the "populist" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. Harris chose as his launching pad Lafayette Square, across the street from the White House, and, as a band played and a dedicated handful cheered, the Oklahoma figuratively shook an angry fist at the "interests" that dominated the President. The White House, however, was empty.

Then I was chatting with an eminent journalist who covers the Hill, when he got a phone call — it was from a leading Republican congressman asking if my friend thought the GOP had enough votes in the House to win on Turkey! Asked what the Republican whip thought, the congressman said, "Hell, he can't count. He had us winning the last one by 20 votes — a slight error of 35."

On the Senate side, at least they got rid of the New Hampshire Senate contest between Democrat John Durkin and Republican Louis Wyman. Without an extensive recapitulation of the bidding, the history is that in a close vote last November Durkin was first declared elected and certified to the Senate, and then the New Hampshire election board switched the decision and declared Wyman the victor by two votes. Under the provisions of the Constitution, each House of Congress has the final say in such contests, and the Senate has been wrestling with this one interminably — 100 or more hours of debate and 35 roll-call votes.

Those of you who follow New Hampshire's "first-in-the-nation" presidential primary will be aware of the eccentricities of the Granite State's electorate. (For example, in the 1968 primary — which was interpreted as a great victory for Eugene McCarthy against Lyndon Johnson — a substantial percentage of those who supported the "peace" candidate turned out to be "hawks" mad at LBJ for not winning the war. In the general election they voted for George Wallace.)

Well, the Durkin-Wyman contest was no exception. The big problem was which ballots to contest: All (a total recount)? Or the "skip ballots" (in New Hampshire you can vote the strait ticket by putting an X in a circle on top of the paper ballot; but some voters who did this and then went on to check all the GOP candidates except (Wyman individually)? At the start it seemed simple: the Senate Rules Committee took jurisdiction over those ballots that were contested. The first one they opened had a write-in — for "Mickey Mouse."

To go further into detail would violate the 8th Amendment's injunction against cruel and unusual punishment. Suffice it to say that on July 30th the Senate declared its "inability" to settle the dispute and bounced it back to New Hampshire for a special election. There is, however, more to this than meets the eye because as soon as it became clear that the election was a mess Wyman seized the high ground and shrewdly announced his willingness to go back for a rerun. He figured that with Watergate ancient history, he could win a clear majority.

I'm told that Durkin's inclination was to accept the challenge, but various leading Democrats told him, in effect, to hang tough and everything would work out fine. Now Durkin has willfully been forced by the Senate to accept a rerun and he goes into the race hurt by his earlier refusal to "let the people decide." In short, Durkin got stuck with a middle-hand in high-low poker.

You are fortunate that I have to catch a plane. Otherwise I might go on to discuss the energy shambles, which makes a progressive kindergarten look like a military academy by comparison with the Congress of the United States. If your luck holds, I will have forgotten the details before I return to write. Now all I have to worry about is whether my wife has decided what to pack.

Drive launched for OSU funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio State University Development Fund has launched a drive for $300,000 to provide financial support for minority students planning careers in business.

Robert H. Potts, president of City National Bank & Trust Co., Columbus, will head the program to obtain the funds from private sources.

The minority assistance program will be set up in the College of Administrative Science. It is aimed at defraying the $3,000-a-year cost for the four-year bachelor's program and $3,200-a-year cost for graduate study.

Eastman Kodak discloses grants

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eastman Kodak Co. of Rochester, N. Y., has announced grants of $10,000 to Ohio State University's department of chemistry and $6,000 to the department of physics.

The grants are to assist graduate education and research in fields related to Kodak's own research and development program. Similar grants went to 40 other universities and colleges.

Founding fathers food fare fun

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — If the soup's on at John and Mona Heck's, it's liable to be green goose, pigeons transmogrified or "stewed spinnage."

And Mona Heck's favorite recipe was the pride of brides back in 1780 and reads like this:

"To Make Lemon Syllabubs: To a pint of cream put a pound of double refined sugar, the juice of seven lemons, grate the rinds of two lemons into a pint of white wine, and half a pint of sake (saki), then put them all into a deep pot, whisk them for half an hour, put it into glasses the night before you want it. It is better for standing two or three days, but it will keep a week if required."

The housewife and her husband, John, who learned cooking from his mother and grandmother, have whipped up a "Bicentennial Cookbook Fabulous Foods of the Founding Fathers."

Mrs. Heck, who did not "bother stirring unless a recipe specifically told me to," now experiments with pounds, pints and pinches in the best pioneer tradition.

The cookbook contains lemon syllabubs and Heck's favorite, beef steak "pye."

Directions for it read: "Beat five or six rump steaks very well with a paste pin, and season them well with pepper and salt, lay a good puff paste round the dish, and put a little water in the bottom, then lay the steaks in, with a lump of butter upon every steak, and put on the lid, cut a little paste in what form you please, and lay it on."

The 30-year-old chemical fertilizer salesman, who both agree is the better cook, explains a paste pin is a rolling pin; puff paste would be puffy crust; and a lid also is a crust.

"You've just got to guess how much a lump of butter is or how long to bake the pie," he said. He recommends a very slow oven.

Of the 140 recipes in the book, Mrs. Heck estimates they've tried 15 to 20 per cent.

"I've served syllabub at a party so friends could try it. It's a sort of dessert drink, both sweet and tart at the same time. I'm not sure what syllabub means, though I ran across a reference that indicates it's a kind of dish or glass."

By checking out encyclopedias, the Hecks have verified that "allegar" means malt vinegar; "barm" is the foam which rises on top of fermenting beer and was used as a leavening agent; "petitoes" are pigs feet and a "tun dish" is a funnel.

Mrs. Heck began collecting the recipes as a hobby and turned her full attention to the bicentennial project after she resigned her teaching job to care for the couple's 10-month-old daughter, Sarah.

"I enjoy being home with the baby and I feel I should be here. I do needlepoint and hook rugs, but I needed something else," she said. "This project will keep me busy at least a year."

The Declaration of Independence was signed by 56 persons.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Kids decry parents' undemocratic system

DEAR ABBY: We are supposed to be living under a democratic system, right? Well, what kind of justice is there when the mother and father of a family can do anything they want, including things they tell their kids they can't do, but nobody can say a word to them about it?

We have to hang up our clothes or we get docked, but I notice their clothes aren't always hung up. We are told to keep quiet while an adult is talking, but both my parents interrupt other people while they're talking. Is that fair?

They are constantly correcting us about how we eat and the grammar we use, but just let THEM, and we get a fat lip.

So what are kids suppose to do?

NO DEMOCRACY
DEAR NO: Kids are supposed to do what their parents tell them to do unless it is dishonest, harmful to others or a violation of the law. I wish more parents realized that the most effective teacher a child can have is the example set for him by his parents.

DEAR ABBY: I have two very pretty daughters I'll call "Lucy" and "Ann." Lucy is 24 and Ann is 17. Lucy is married and has a small child. The child was hospitalized recently, so during that time, Lucy stayed at the hospital with him.

I just found out that when Ann was at the hospital to visit, her brother-in-law took her home. When they got here, no one was home, so he came in and tried to take advantage of her. She pulled away from him and ran into the bathroom and locked the door and stayed there until he left.

Nobody knows this except Ann and me. If I told my husband, he'd kill his son-in-law.

Should I tell Lucy what a terrible man her husband is? I don't think he should get off free like that. Or should I tell my son-in-law that I am wise to him and that if he ever pulls that stunt again, I'll tell Lucy? I can hardly look him in the face.

DISGUSTED
DEAR DUSGUSTED: Don't tell Lucy, and don't mention it to her husband. But do tell Ann to let you know if her brother-in-law ever gets out of line again. THEN, lower the boom on the bum.

DEAR ABBY: You passed over the problem of sweaty palms much too casually. It's a serious handicap. My husband had that condition (it's called "hyperhidrosis") over 25 years. He recalled that in the second grade, other would say, "Get your clammy hands off me!"

In today's society, a man's handshake is analyzed. A clammy hand is supposed to mean its owner is sneaky or insecure. My husband hands weren't merely clammy; perspiration literally ran off them! When he had to shake hands, he did so unwillingly after drying them on his handkerchief or trousers.

Last year, Dr. Donald F. Dohn, a neurosurgeon at the Cleveland Clinic who performs surgery on the sympathetic nerves to the hands (exclusively), successfully operated on my husband, and now his hands are bone dry. Only those who suffer from hyperhidrosis can appreciate his relief.

Perhaps this letter will give hope to others who were told that their condition was hopeless. Sign us....

GRATEFUL IN ANCHORAGE
DEAR GRATEFUL: And I am grateful to you for informing me that excessive sweating is not a curse that one must simply accept and learn to live with. Dermatologists have also been successful with yet another approach.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope please.

Landfill 'life expectancy' 18 months

The Fayette County Board of Health Tuesday discussed several programs under its auspices. No major action was taken on any project.

The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency has estimated the "life expectancy" of the Fayette County landfill at 18 months. By the end of 1976, the area now being used for the landfill will have accepted as much waste as the land can adequately handle.

Dr. William E. Covert, health commissioner, said it requires approximately 15 months to arrange for a new site and to receive EPA approval of the location. Therefore, the board will soon begin seeking another area in which to continue the landfill operation.

The commissioner added that although some minor deficiencies in the present operation were cited by the EPA, the quality of the landfill was found to be acceptable.

Board members approved the preliminary sewage plans for the Day Subdivision on U.S. 35-S, near Bogus Road.

Actually the subdivision consists of only one home to be built by Norman Day, 4670 U.S. 35-S, on half of his present property.

More stringent sewage regulations for Fayette County are being considered by the board. At present, approval of waste systems in the county is based upon regulations outlined by the National Soil Service survey of the land, but some members feel that greater restrictions may be necessary. They recommend that several soil factors not considered by the national survey be tested by the local agency.

The board approved an interim budget for the operation of the county's Help Anonymous program which will be submitted to the Region Six planning commission. The Ohio Commission on Aging provides funds for the program's operation, and the regional planning commission must approve the budget before state aid can be obtained.

Help Anonymous has established a "hot line" for elderly residents. By calling 335-4144, they may obtain information concerning health care, transportation, Social Security or other agencies which serve the elderly.

Dr. Covert reported that the Early Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment program appears to have been well received. Board members felt it should be continued for at least another year.

The program allows welfare recipients to receive low-cost health evaluations for their children.

Board members approved expenses for Dr. Covert to attend the 56th Ohio Health Commissioners conference in Columbus. He will address the conference concerning new public health bills approved by the Ohio Legislature.

Sohio named in $5 million damage suit

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Standard Oil Co. of Ohio is among those charged in a $5 million suit filed in federal court here by three of its dealers whose stations were sold under an anti-trust settlement.

Robert B. Williams, Bud Hatfield and Edward C. Veid, all of whom operated stations in the Cincinnati area, are seeking a jury trial in the suit filed Tuesday, which names as defendants Sohio, British Petroleum Co. Ltd. and three of its subsidiaries, Fisca Oil Co. of Kansas City, U.S. Atty. Gen. Edward Levi and William Cafaro, special master for U.S. District Court in Youngstown.

The class action is the result of a June, 1974 Justice Department decree permitting the merger of Sohio and British Petroleum, but ordering Sohio to divest itself of the annual sale of 400 million gallons of oil products by selling retail outlets in groups of 10 or more.

Sohio sold 11 stations to Fisca, including the ones operated by the plaintiffs, and last month, several operators rejected compensatory offers by the company as insufficient.

Fayette Choral Society

Fayette Choral Society readies for first public performance

The Fayette County Choral Society will present its first public performance Sunday at 4 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church, located at the corner of Market and Hinde streets.

Miss Nelly Maude Case of Brighton, Mass. will be the guest organist. She will open the program with a group of selections from the organ works of Bach, Brahms and Cesar Frank.

Under the direction of Charles Schaffer, the choir, accompanied by Mrs. Donald (Mary Jeanne) Schwaigert, will present sacred, patriotic and inspirational numbers.

The program was inspired by the prospect of the nation's bicentennial celebration. Except for Martin Luther's "A Mighty Fortress," all pieces being presented will be American traditional and composed works and the texts are the work of American poets.

Several soloists will be featured during the concert. Mrs. Wayne (Emily) King will sing the soprano solo in "There is a Balm in Gilead," whose text comes from Jeremiah with music composed by William L. Dawson.

Gary Browning will sing the baritone solo from "The Beatitudes," a sacred number whose words were taken from the fifth chapter of St. Matthew and was composed by H.R. Evans.

Alan Dunlap, tenor, will present the solo "I Talked to God Last Night" by David W. Guion. He will be accompanied by Miss Elane Stookey.

Other numbers to be presented by the choir are: "The Old Time Religion," arranged by Gordon Young; "A Rose Touched by the Sun's Warm Rays" with the original text being Pennsylvania Dutch, music by Jean Berger; Peter J. Wilhousky's arrangement of "Battle Hymn of the Republic;" "Choose Something Like a Star," from "Frostiana," a collection of seven country songs whose words were written by the famous Robert Frost and composed by Randall Thompson; "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor," words by Emma Lazarus from the sonnet, "The New Colossus," which describes the Statue of Liberty, music by Irving Berlin and arranged for Fred Waring.

The program will close with the Dale Wood arrangement of "A Mighty Fortress" for organ with Miss Case at the console, the choir and soprano descant by Mrs. King and Miss Karen Gerker, and trumpet obligato by Allan

Fennig, a Capital University music student.

The choir was formed as a result of interest shown by church choir members who participated in the "Festival of Choirs" held last April during the Easter season. The public is urged to show its support by attending the concert. A free-will offering will be taken to help defray costs.

Members of the choir are: Mrs. Norman Armbrust, Mrs. John S. Boylan, Miss Ann Campbell, Gary Browning, Mrs. Michael Campbell, Mrs. John P. Case, Miss Kathleen Davis, Allen Dunlap, Mrs. Orville Dunlap, Mrs. Truman Dunn, Mrs. Lloyd Fennig, Mrs. Milbourne Flee, Mrs. John Frederick, Miss Karen Gerker, Mrs. James Grinstead, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice B. ## Dog leads blind woman through obstacles

'Good girl, Lady!'

By SANDY FOSSON

Competing in an obstacle course can be a real challenge. But when the course is a mile walk around such obvious physical objects as a step ladder, boxes, rakes, cans and poles around bright orange highway pylons, the challenge disappears unless you are blind.

Twenty-five graduates of the Pilot Dogs, Inc., Columbus, converged in the capital city for a two-day convention last weekend and competed in the pilot dog obstacle course — a 15 minute, mile-long sidewalk course in downtown Columbus from the Southern Hotel at Main and High streets to the Scioto River.

Janet Haynes, 313 Florence St., was one of the 25 alumni from the dog training program for the blind, who came from as far away as Washington state and Israel, to enter the course. She and Lady, her Golden Labrador, proudly returned home with a new portable AM-FM radio after successfully completing the challenge and winning third place honors in the course.

"We didn't knock any of the markers down," she exclaimed, while Lady calmly laid beside Janet's feet with front legs crossed as through she were part human.

Janet, who graduated July 21, 1973 from the Pilot Dog training program, has had Lady ever since. She was forced to give up a previous dog after only six weeks when he became too protective of his new master.

"He started nipping people when they came close to me," she said, while adding that although many blind persons have pilot dogs for several years, it is unusual for the dogs to become too overly-protective of their owners.

Their obligations are to guide their owners, not protect them, she said, refuting a common misconception of pilot dogs.

The dogs have been trained through the pilot dog school to guide their masters by walking crossways in front of them to divert them from any dangerous obstacles.

Once the dogs have completed the training, the prospective owners train with the new dogs two to four weeks to allow the dogs to become accustomed to their tone of voice and habits.

Janet said she has had no problems with Lady and noted her best method in maintaining obedience from Lady is to "be myself and reward her often."

"I hug her and tell her she's a good girl all the time," she said but added she also reinforces Lady's obedience by daily lessons in teaching her to sit and stay.

Thirty-five-year-old Janet, who has been partially blind since only a few months old and totally blind for over 20 years, said she was forced to do restrictive walking with a cane before obtaining a pilot dog but now takes Lady for a two mile walk generally every day.

"Before, I would be afraid. I'd stand there petrified at the intersection of Washington and Columbus Avenues," she recalled of her fears of crossing the busy downtown intersection with a cane.

Janet now walks with Lady nearly every day from her home on Florence Street, where she resides with her parents, Mr. and

Janet and Lady

Mrs. Charles Haynes, to a downtown drug store and back, two miles roundtrip.

She noted her freedom of movement has been tremendously expanded with Lady, even though Lady does much of the "feeling" for her during the walks. "It's much more comforting to be able to have Lady take me around instead of discovering things like a hole by falling into them," she quipped.

She is able to take longer walks without the lack of confidence she once had just in walking down a street. And with that feeling prevailing, Janet and Lady can be seen quite often on many of the streets in Washington C.H.

Rewarding hug

Steaks flavored with beer

Most good cooks are hep to the secrets of cooking with wine. For a switch, try cooking with beer. It lends fabulous flavor when used to baste fresh ham or pork roasts and it works wonders, too, spiced with Worcestershire sauce and catsup as a marinade for:

BARBECUED STEAK

1 bottle (5 ounces) Worcestershire sauce

1 bottle (12 ounces) catsup
1 can (12 ounces) beer
3 pound top round steak

To prepare marinade, combine in a medium bowl Worcestershire sauce, catsup and beer (makes about 3 1/2 cups).

Place steak in a snug-fitting pan. Pour 1 cup marinade over steak, turning to coat all sides. Cover and refrigerate for 5 to 6 hours. Refrigerate remaining marinade in a covered container (it will keep 3 to 4 weeks); use over chicken, pork or beef.

Remove steak from marinade. Place under a preheated hot broiler or grill over hot charcoal, brushing occasionally with marinade, until done as desired, about 12 to 15 minutes on each side. Makes 6 portions.

Round out your barbecue menu with a two-in-one vegetable dish that combines garden-fresh green beans with canned round peeled tomatoes for color. Add blue cheese for special flavor and serve with white sauce sparked with bacon:

SAUCY GREEN BEANS AND TOMATOES

3 strips bacon
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
1 to 2 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese

1 (28-ounce) can drained round peeled tomatoes
4 cups (1 pound) cooked fresh whole green beans

Fry bacon in saucepan. Remove bacon and all but 2 tablespoons bacon fat. Crumble bacon. Stir in flour, salt and pepper. Heat one minute. Stir in milk until mixture is well blended. Heat until it's thickened and just comes to a boil. Stir in blue cheese. Add tomatoes and green beans. Blend well. Heat to serving temperature. Serve with crumbled bacon on top. Serves 4.

HERBED LEMON BARBECUED CHICKEN

2-3rds cup lemon juice
2-3rds cup water
1/2 cup catsup
3 tablespoons firmly packed dark brown sugar
2 tablespoons paprika
2 tablespoons onion powder
1 tablespoon cornstarch
3/2 teaspoons salt, divided
1 1/2 teaspoons oregano leaves
1 teaspoon garlic powder
1/4 teaspoon ground red pepper
1/2 teaspoon powdered mustard
1/2 teaspoon thyme leaves
4 tablespoons oil
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
3 (2 1/2 pounds each) chickens, quartered

In a large saucepan, combine lemon juice, water, catsup, brown sugar, paprika, onion powder, cornstarch, 1 1/2 teaspoons of the salt, oregano, garlic powder, red pepper, mustard and thyme; blend well. Stir in oil. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens, about three minutes. Remove from heat; stir in parsley flakes. Cool; set aside.

Sprinkle both sides of chickens with remaining 1 1/4 teaspoons salt. To broil, place chickens on racks in broiler pans. Cook under preheated (375 F.) broiler for 30 minutes, turning often. Brush with reserved barbecue sauce, turning and brushing frequently until chicken is tender, about 15 to 20 minutes. Or, arrange on grill over slow burning charcoal. Cook following preceding directions. Makes 12 portions.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — New Orleans' huge new Superdome has a $1.3 million super-TV set hanging from its ceiling. The idea is to give fans in the stadium a super view of live action on the field.

But when the New Orleans Saints go marching into their first exhibition game Saturday at the Superdome, the only definite show on the super-set will be instant replays and stadium-only commercials.

Fans won't see massive pictures of live action in that game or any of the Saints' 10 other home games this season, according to Superdome officials.

The reason: Despite two efforts by Superdome officials, the National Football League still won't permit live stadium-only TV views of the kind the Superdome's six 22-foot-high screens could show.

NFL spokesman Jim Kensil says the ban is for a variety of reasons, ranging from possible distraction of players to fears it somehow could greatly help the home team spot weaknesses in the opposition.

He said in-stadium TV hasn't been much of an issue until now because only a few stadiums have it and their pictures don't compare in clarity to those of the Superdome.

However, he said, the NFL for the past two seasons has allowed taped highlights of a game-in-progress to be shown on stadium TV at half-time and at two other periods in the game.

This season, he said, the NFL is letting stadiums show instant replays of action on their own turf, but only as a one-year test "so if it doesn't work or causes problems it can be reconsidered."

If no snags develop, it's possible that the NFL would authorize stadium screen showing of live action next season, he added.

In that event, the Superdome could get its live-action TV pictures from two sources — its own crews or the TV network covering a Saints home game. But even then, one major issue still has to be settled.

Kensil says the NFL has told Superdome officials that if live stadium TV is approved, "we'd have to discuss if they have the right" to show the Saints' home games on the six big Superdome screens.

Because the NFL has sold the TV rights of its games to CBS, NBC and ABC, he explained, there's a question of whether these rights involve the live stadium-only telecasts sought by the Superdome.

"We'd have to get into the legal side of it, who has the right to do what," he said.

So this season, Superdome officials say, the big screens will show only replays and commercials. They say they're also negotiating with the networks to show other games on the screens following each home game of the Saints, but that nothing is final yet.

They said when the NFL holds its league meeting next March, they'll try to get it to lift the ban on live, stadium-only telecasts, and resolve whether the Superdome has the rights to such telecasts.

Plant blast suspect held

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A man wanted in connection with the firebombing of a Sponge Rubber Products Co. plant in Connecticut was being held here after his arrest in Akron Monday.

Albert R. Coffey, 43, who gave his residence as Butler, Pa., was being held in lieu of $150,000 bond. A federal indictment charges him with arson and conspiracy in a $14 million bombing in March of the plant in Shelton, Conn. FBI agents said Coffey was working as a bartender under an assumed name when they arrested him. Nine others—including Charles Moeller of Cridersville, Ohio, president of the parent firm—also were indicted after four men wearing ski masks were reported to have set off the explosion and fire. The four said they were members of the radical Weather underground.

Coffey is scheduled to face a hearing Aug. 12 for his removal to New Haven, Conn.

Armco Steel Corp. to increase prices

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Calling it a "corrective action that can no longer be delayed," Armco Steel Corp. has announced price increases averaging 9 per cent on carbon sheet steel and strip products.

The increases, effective Aug. 20, were presented to the Council on Wage and Price Stability Tuesday by the Middletown-based firm, the nation's fifth largest steel producer.

The firm called the increases "long overdue," explaining that production costs have risen 17.4 per cent, or $45 per ton, in a 13 month period. Armco's last price hike on flat-rolled products came in July, 1974.

The stability council secured commitments from several major steel companies last December that instituted "a virtual price freeze" for six months and put off the increases announced yesterday, a spokesman said.

Last December, prices on most other steel products were raised between 6.6 per cent and 9.2 per cent.

The new flat-rolled increase will average 1.3 cents a pound, or $25 a ton, for hot-rolled, cold-rolled and coated carbon steels, the firm said.

That translates into an added consumer cost of about $34 for enough steel for a medium-sized car and about $2.12 for a 16-cubic-foot refrigerator, the spokesman added.

"Such increases on flat-rolled steel were fully justified last December. Since then costs have continued to skyrocket, so much so that since January, 1975, losses in our flat-rolled operations have averaged $2 million a month," the company said.

"In fact, the action we are taking falls far short of the increase necessary to fully correct the cost price imbalance in flat-rolled products. We will still be absorbing nearly half of the more than $45-a-ton increases incurred since the last price increase July 1, 1974," the company stated.

Armco's 1974 sales totaled $3.2 billion, with $490.8 million net income. The company supplied nearly 20 per cent of the steel used by the auto industry.

The Middletown firm called the increase "a stopgap measure until market conditions permit a full recovery of those cost increases. We cannot continue to sell flat-rolled products at price levels which produce a loss," a company statement said.

Blaming the hike on materials, energy, cost-of-living and employee salary increases, Armco said the increases will continue because a reduction in the allocation of natural gas to its plants will force a switch to more expensive fuels.

Teenage institute on alcohol slated

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — The 11th annual Teenage Institute on Alcohol and Other Drugs will be held Aug. 10-15 at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Ohio Health Director Dr. John Ackerman said more than 300 high school students will discuss involvement in helping teenagers solve alcohol-drug problems during the five-day session.

Ackerman said the problem of teenage alcoholics had been overshadowed by publicity about teenage involvement with marijuana and LSD. He said the institute would delve into both problems.

Zeta CCL chapter donates lounge chairs to hospital

Many parents will be pleasantly surprised as they sit watching junior nap off the anesthesia in his room at Fayette Memorial Hospital from having his tonsils removed because now they too will be able to recline comfortably in a chair and catch some winks.

Hospital administrator Robert L. Kunz announced that members of the Zeta chapter of the Child Conservation League of Fayette County have graciously donated two pediatric reclining lounge chairs valued at $250 apiece to the hospital.

"We are expanding our pediatric unit along with other hospital facilities through the construction of the new wing," Kunz stated. "The children's unit upon completion will have seven beds and hopefully seven of these chairs. We now have four."

The 24 Zeta CCL women under the philanthropic chairmanship of Mrs.

Gene Gustin earned the money for the chairs by selling pecans and candles last fall.

Kunz stated his appreciation of the gift by saying, "It's organizations like this which make our community a better place to live and I can't thank the Zeta CCL women enough for their time and dedication given to Fayette Memorial Hospital so unselfishly."

Majority supports oil price changes

NEW YORK (AP) — A 54-22 per cent majority of the American people support President Ford's proposal to deregulate the price of oil produced in this country, a Louis Harris poll says. Twenty-four per cent are not sure.

The result of the poll, taken in July from a nationwide cross-section of 1,497 adults, compared with a 4-31 per cent plurality in April.

By village council members

Curfew violations studied in B'burg

BLOOMINGBURG — A recent upswing in the number of curfew violators prompted concern from Bloomingburg village council members who discussed the problem Tuesday.

It was noted that the village curfew ordinance provides stiff penalties to be levied against the parents of violators, and councilmen resolved to strictly enforce the ordinance. A special effort will be made to apprehend any youth who is rowdy after curfew.

Penalties for violation include a three-day jail term for the parents of a first offender, 10 days in jail for a second offense, and a 30-day jail term for a third offense. Fines range for $10 to $100.

A heated discussion ensued when council member Daniel Thompson introduced an ordinance which called for erection of stop signs at almost all village intersections. Although mayor Max Grim opposed the measure, it carried by a 4-1 margin with councilwoman Mrs. Irene Grim casting the only negative vote.

Thompson contended that cars have been speeding excessively along streets in the village, and he felt the added stop signs would lessen the problem. The only major exception in the ordinance was Main Street which already has two four-way stops. The three remaining intersections on Main Street would not receive additional signs.

The mayor, who is responsible for erecting signs, stated that he would study the situation further before implementing the ordinance.

Building permits were issued to four persons. Cecil Packer will erect a home at 32 Academy Street. He will also add a bedroom and garage to his present home at 22 Academy Street.

Glenn Ryan plans to erect a storage building at 35 Lincoln Street. Ralph Ashbaugh will add a family room with basement to his home at 15 Miron Street, and Cecil Cutlip will add a room at 42 Lincoln Street.

Council also approved reimbursement of tuition for any village resident who successfully completes the state sewer or water operations training program in Columbus. The course leads to a license in sewer or water plant operations.

Tuition is approximately $80, and the council will reimburse those who obtain their licenses. The deadline for applications is Aug. 27, and forms may be obtained at the clerk's office.

Routine bills in the amount of $595 were approved for payment.

Sen. Baker's home hit by burglars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The home of Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., was broken into but nothing was believed taken, an aide to the senator said.

Ron McMahan, Baker's press secretary, said the Tennessee Republican and his family were at his home in Huntsville, Tenn., when the incident occurred Monday night or Tuesday morning at the northwest Washington home.

McMahan said a safe was broken into but nothing was missing. Rings, fur coats and photography equipment were left undisturbed, he said.

McMahan quoted Baker as saying there was no confidential material in the house that could have been taken.

KSU jury hears retired officer

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Individual soldiers must decide for themselves in a riot when the threat to their lives is enough to shoot, a retired Army officer testified Tuesday in the damages suit stemming from the 1970 Kent State University shootings.

Edward L. King was called as a crowd control expert by the shooting victims but was permitted to give his opinions on military matters tying together several strands of the victims' case.

King, a former lieutenant colonel, said when Ohio National Guard officers sent troops onto the campus commons with loaded rifles, the leaders "in effect turned over to the individuals the decision when to fire."

The panel of seven men and five women deciding the claims was sent home early Tuesday after U.S. District Judge Don J. Young ruled that mothers of two students killed in the shooting had no relative testimony to offer.

Young told the jury his ruling was a matter of law and did not reflect on the parents or other plaintiffs. He said his judgment was that neither Mrs. Louis Schroeder, mother of William Schroeder, nor Mrs. Elaine Holstein, mother of Jeffrey Miller, could shed any light on questions raised by the suit.

King said National Guard procedures are supposed to be based on the Army's.

Army officers would not have ordered troops to load their weapons until all other crowd-control measures had been exhausted, King said.

King, who has written a book entitled, "The Death of the Army," criticizing some U.S. military policies, gave the jury a floor-shaking demonstration of rifle-butt strokes and bayonet thrusts he said troops were trained to use against rioters and the enemy.

Under cross-examination by defense attorney Charles Brown, King conceded that both Army rules of engagement and the Ohio National Guard's operation plans for crowd control gave soldiers the right to shoot if they feared for their lives.

In Municipal Court

Aggravated burglary suspect is arraigned

A Washington C.H., youth arrested Monday in connection with a chain of residential burglaries on the city's east side, was arraigned in Municipal Court Tuesday on three counts of aggravated burglary.

Donald P. Foxworth, 19, of 703 Church St., entered no plea to the three charges lodged against him by Washington C.H. police officers. He is presently charged with the burglaries at the residences of Charles C. Sheppard, 824 Church St., Glenn Baker, 6 Winnepeg Plaza, and Harold Speelman, 853 Church St. Washington C.H. Police Chief Rodman Scott said the investigation into the other burglaries is still continuing and more charges are expected to be filed.

Preliminary hearing for Foxworth was scheduled for 8:30 a.m. Friday.

A 24-year-old Greenfield man was fined and sentenced to jail after pleading guilty to a charge of possession of a hallucinogen.

Acting Judge John Case fined Steven T. Mootispaw, 24, $100 and costs and sentenced him to five days in the county jail. Mootispaw was arrested early Tuesday by sheriff's deputies on Ohio 41-S after they discovered marijuana in his car during a routine vehicle check.

Ralph W. Thomas, 20, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to six days in jail after pleading guilty to a shoplifting complaint filed by Sea-Way, CCC Highway-W.

Thomas was arrested after he attempted to leave the store without paying for a fog light he had picked up in the store.

Vernon E. Howland, 26, Rt. 3, Greenfield was found guilty of an assault charged and was fined $50 and costs. The complaint was filed by Shiela Howland.

Trespassing charges filed against Charles Beatty, 47, Mills Road, and Etta M. Beatty, 58, 812 S. North St., were dismissed by Judge Case. He ruled that the prosecuting witness, James Shelton, had failed to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendants were actually trespassing.

A disorderly conduct charge filed against Walter D. Aills Jr., 24, of 1218 Rawlings St., was dismissed when the prosecuting witness, Leroy Mongold, 813½ Sycamore St., failed to appear.

Traffic Court

Three persons were fined and one forfeited bond in traffic cases heard in Municipal Court Tuesday afternoon.

Fined:

Herman H. Frey, 68, Rt. 4, $25 and costs, reckless operation.

Sharon L. Kellis, 21, Greenfield, $100 and costs, no operator's license.

Roscoe G. Jones, 67, of 331 Rowe-Ging Rd., $25 and costs, failure to yield the right of way.

Bond forfeited:

John M. Turner, 43, Albia, Iowa, failure to maintain an assured clear distance, $25.

Lost lottery ticket means $15,000 gone

MOUNT LIBERTY, Ohio (AP) — Jerry Compton figures he's out only 50 cents.

But the winning lottery ticket he lost guaranteed him $15,020, and, with a little better luck, it could have brought home $1.3 million in state lottery earnings.

Here's what happened to Compton on the road from riches to rags:

Last Thursday, the Penn Central employee and some companions stopped in a local tavern at the time that week's lottery numbers were being announced.

Not only did Compton's ticket qualify him for the Buckeye 300, which guarantees winners at least $15,000 and up to $300,000, but he was a $20 winner as well. That would make him eligible for the periodic millionaire drawings, or one of several smaller cash prizes.

The new winner and his friends stayed to celebrate his luck and when Compton left, he stashed the ticket under the seatcover of his automobile for safety.

His wife, Jean, says her husband did not tell her of his good fortune, and on Friday, she took the car to Columbus.

"I took the car to Columbus Friday morning, when I got out, I noticed the ticket under the car seat and pushed it back under the cover," she said. "The only other place I stopped was to get gasoline on the way home."

Mrs. Compton said when she returned home, she was told of the winning ticket, and went to get it, but it was gone.

She said she drove back to the Columbus parking lot where she checked with the owner and the attendants, but they said no one had turned it in.

Betty Ford learning to love being First Lady

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Ford says she has found excitement and self-confidence in her first year in the White House, even though it was marked by illness and occasional loneliness. She's ready to campaign for her husband's election in 1976 by traveling with him as much as possible. She looks forward to continuing to do things "that interest me and that I've been involved in." The First Lady points out those things include continuing to push for passage of the Equal Rights Amendment, expressing interest in the performing arts and handicapped and retarded people. From being "scared to death" at the prospect of moving into the White House when her husband suddenly became president in August 1974, Mrs.

Ford has come to grips with life in the 132-room, 18-acre executive mansion. Responding to questions as the August anniversary date approached, Mrs. Ford told The Associated Press: "I had no idea when we came a year ago how many responsibilities there would be and decisions to be made as First Lady. I found that it was practically a seven-day-week, 24-hour-a-day job." From entertaining a dozen heads of state to answering an average of 2,000 letters a week, Mrs. Ford has been coping with that job. "Gradually, I've gained more confidence in my ability to handle situations," she added.

Chicken Feast

Tyson Country Fresh — the world's finest chicken!

Tender . . . meaty . . . country fresh. Delicious to serve your family or guests. Fry it crisp and golden brown. Barbecue it sizzling hot, with a heavenly aroma. However you want to serve it, you want to start with chicken you know is fresh.

How can you be sure? Simply buy the chicken wearing a "Tyson Country Fresh" label. It's never frozen — never packed in ice. Tyson Country Fresh chicken is chilled to 28°F to keep it fresh. That's freezing to people but not to chicken. So, look for this label — it's all you need to know to get fresh chicken.

- Knife cut !
- USDA Grade A !
- Fresh-Chilled !

ALL WHOLE TYSON CHICKENS AND CHOICE PIECES ARE U.S. GOVERNMENT GRADE A AND U.S. GOVERNMENT INSPECTED FOR WHOLESOMENESS

If the chicken doesn't reach or pass U.S. Government Grade A requirements, it doesn't pass the Tyson label. U.S.D.A. Grade A is the highest quality standard for chickens set by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

ALL TYSON FRESH-CHILLED CHICKEN IS OPEN DATED FOR FRESHNESS

When the label reads "sell by Aug. 4," on Aug. 4 the chicken actually has three more days of freshness left if properly refrigerated at home. However, if you plan to keep chicken longer than three or four days, freeze it right in its Tyson package.

MIAMI TRACE FOOTBALL. Coach Fred Zechman said his gridders will make use of all three interscholastic football scrimmages this year.

The Panther mentor feels his squad will have to make full use of the allowed scrimmages because of the squad's inexperience.

The dates and teams are tentative according to Zechman, but the third-year head coach said he has been trying since December to schedule some tough competition for the preseason workouts.

Blue Lion Coach Maurice Pfeifer plans to use just two of the three allowed scrimmages. The first such workout is scheduled for Saturday, August 23, but the team and place are tentative.

The traditional scrimmage with West Jefferson is slated for August 29. Coach Pfeifer said the Friday night date was made to make the best use of regular season game conditions.

Both Fayette County squads will issue equipment and start two-a-day practices next Wednesday.

An acclimation policy set by the Ohio High School Athletic Association will postpone contact drills until August 18.

The four-day policy of getting prep gridders used to the summer heat calls for two days of drills without equipment and one day of drills in equipment but without contact before normal practices are held.

SOUTHERN STATE COLLEGE may bring collegiate basketball to Fayette County this fall.

The college's head coach Bob Jacoby said tentative plans call for the Patriots to play home games at high school gymnasiums in the five-county area.

Miami Trace and Washington Senior High School are possible sites for home games, if local school boards accept such policies.

Jacoby said he has contacted two or three Fayette County cage prospects about attending Southern State, but he is keeping the names secret until classes at the college begin next month.

HILLSBORO GRID Coach Mike Doyle has wasted little time in revealing his prognosis for the upcoming high school campaign.

Even though his players have yet to don football helmets, he is looking forward to a much improved year, and he has even gone as far as hinting that his junior signal caller, Tyler Woods, could be the best quarterback in the South Central Ohio League this year.

Doyle has a good basis for his optimistic outlook as the Indians return 14 lettermen including the starting offensive backfield.

The Hillsboro mentor admits to having a "lack of bench strength" and an abundance of small linemen, but he expects the Indians to improve on last year's 2-8 mark.

As far as the rest of the league, Doyle pegs Miami Trace and Circleville as preseason favorites, and Washington C. H. and Greenfield as possible title contenders.

The Blue Lions will host Hillsboro September 26 while Miami Trace visits the Indians the following week.

THE WATERLOO WONDERS, one of the most famous high school teams in Ohio's sports history, will be honored at the 105th annual Rio Grande Bean Dinner Saturday.

The Wonders, all past students at Waterloo High School, thrilled fans 40 years ago with ballplaying that brought the prep players from the hills of southeastern Ohio to the national spotlight.

Their playing skills were matched by their ability to entertain fans with behind-the-back passing and many antics that are now standard moves for the Harlem Globetrotters.

In 1936 the Wonders played the nation's best pro team, the original Celtics, and lost by a few points before topping the Celtics 47-39 in a rematch.

The Wonders now all in their late fifties are expected to attend the Rio Grande festivities at the Bob Evans Farms. Guard Stewart Wiseman, who played guard for the Wonders, now lives in Chillicothe, while captain Curtis McMahon and center Orlyn Roberts live in Dayton.

TENNIS GREAT. Stan Smith, has joined the field for the 1975 Buckeye Tennis Championships August 12-18 at the Buckeye Boys Ranch near Columbus.

Smith was co-ranked with Jimmy Connors as the number one ranked tennis player by the USLTA in 1974.

Smith joins what promoters call "the greatest field in the tournaments six-year history." Other players in the 32-man field are Raul Ramirez, Roscoe Tanner, the Amritraj brothers, Tom Gorman and Bob Lutz.

Played for the benefit of the Buckeye Boys Ranch, the Buckeye is the only professional tennis tournament played in Central Ohio and it is the only tournament played exclusively for charity.

Tennis fans can obtain ticket applications at any office of the City National Bank of Columbus.

AN ADDED FEATURE to Cincinnati Reds fans planning to attend the August 31 game with the St. Louis Cardinals will be the handing out of a full color wall poster of Tony Perez to everyone under 21 years of age.

Perez's likeness is the sixth in a series of individual poster the Reds have produced.

Perez, a long-time favorite of Reds' fans, is the only active major leaguer to knock in 90 or more runs in each of the past eight seasons.

Cameron and Cobb scheduled to start

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Only a week after facing one Super Bowl champion, Cincinnati Bengals rookies Glenn Cameron and Marvin Cobb are slated to face another, as they are scheduled to start for the Bengals Saturday night against the Miami Dolphins.

"It just seems that Cobb and Cameron belong," said Coach Paul Brown after the pair went through their first workout at training camp here. "They have quickness, balance, mobility and know-how and it's a very encouraging thing."

Borbon, McEnaney cool Giants

Stars rest; Reds still win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — All-Stars Johnny Bench, Joe Morgan and Tony Perez were missing from Cincinnati's lineup Tuesday night. But the Reds looked like the same old first place team, beating the Giants 6-3.

"We're proving, I think, that everyone on this club can do the job," said Dan Driessen, first base fill-in for Perez, who got two of the Reds' 13 hits off Giants starter Ed Halicki, 5-9, and reliever Dave Heaverlo.

"We know Driessen's a good hitter. I'm pretty sure he'd hit .300 if he played every day," said Manager Sparky Anderson.

Driessen scored in the seventh inning, breaking a 3-3 tie, on a single by Cesar Geronimo, who totaled three hits in the victory. Driessen had walked and reached second base on Halicki's wild pickoff throw to first.

Ken Griffey opened a two-run ninth inning rally off Heaverlo with a double, his third hit, and Driessen contributed an infield single which raised his average to .263.

Bench, Morgan and Perez rested Tuesday night. Bench was scheduled for his fourth consecutive day off today, resting a sore shoulder, and Anderson said shortstop Dave Concepcion also would sit out the final game of the Reds' road trip.

Pete Rose had two hits Tuesday night, was offered time off but told Anderson, "We have an off-day Thursday. That will be my day off."

Rose is just 51 hits away from the 200-mark he's reached six times in his 13-year career.

Anderson went to his bullpen after starter Clay Kirby struggled through five innings. Pedro Borbon and Will McEnaney allowed just one hit the rest of the way.

"You get the victory and I'll take the save; that's okay by me," left-hander McEnaney told Borbon, now 7-3. Left-hander McEnaney got his 11th save with 2 1-3 innings of hitless pitching.

Shortstop Chris Speier is out of the San Francisco Giants' lineup with a sore back and Manager Wes Westrum admits, "We're a different club without him."

Westrum's club dropped under .500, with a 55-56 record, but he didn't see the last three innings of the loss, getting ejected by umpire Jerry Dale for protesting a close play at first base in the sixth.

The Giants are 14-9 since the mid-July All-Star game break but 1-5 against the Reds.

Pirates 6, Cards 1
Despite the offensive explosion, the Phils failed to cut into Pittsburgh's 4½-game lead in the East Division. Richie Zisk, Duffy Dyer and Bill Robinson made sure of that, driving in two runs apiece to beat St. Louis.

Dyer and Robinson each had two-run triples while Zisk divided his work with a double and a homer to back Jim Rooker's seven-hitter.

Dodgers 5, Braves 0
Like the Phils, the Dodgers came out on top but went nowhere in the standings, remaining 15½ games back of Cincinnati in the West.

Bengals resume workouts

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals resumed workouts Tuesday in preparation for Saturday's exhibition game against the Miami Dolphins, already having trimmed their squad below its Aug. 12 limit.

Under National Football League rules, clubs must be down to 60 players by that date, but the Bengals, in training at Wilmington College here, have 59. That does not include three College All-Stars, who do not count until the final cut is made.

"We would only waive someone now if we feel the position is amply covered and the guy doesn't have a chance," said Coach Paul Brown.

Though none of the team seems to be injured seriously, the list of Bengals out of action temporarily includes defensive end Royce Berry, cornerback Bernard Jackson, tight end Bruce Coslet, running back Ed Williams and wide receiver Chip Myers.

Teeth are also a problem on the club. Defensive back Lemar Parrish had an infected tooth pulled Tuesday and offensive tackle Vern Holland has two bad wisdom teeth destined for extraction.

Don Sutton blitzed the Braves with a five-hitter to chalk up his 40th career shutout and become the NL's first 15-game winner. Jimmy Wynn's 16th homer gave him all he needed.

Padres 6, Astros 5

It was a rolling ball that knocked Houston off the tracks against the Padres. Bobby Tolan singled with two out in the 10th and moved to second on a balk before Fred Kendall hit a roller to shortstop Jerry Davanon, who fumbled it to let Tolan score the winning run.

Expos 7-7, Mets 0-0

The Mets got a double dose of the blahs from Montreal's pitching staff and, for the sixth time in 10 twinbills this year, came out on the short end in both games.

Don Carriethers pitched a fivehitter in the first game, then Dennis Blair and Woodie Fryman teamed for one in the nightcap. Bob Bailey and Barry Foote homered in the opener and Pete Mackanin drove in two runs in the second game.

Yankees 4, Brewers 3

Bobby Bonds' home run in the ninth inning carried Catfish Hunter and New York over Milwaukee. Bonds' homer, his 22nd of the season but only his first since July 20, helped New York's premier right-hander improve his record to 15-10. Hunter scattered nine hits.

A's 3-2, Rangers 2-15

Dick Bosman and Rollie Fingers teamed for a two-hitter and Jim Holt hit a tie-breaking sacrifice fly in the fifth inning.

Nicklaus favored in PGA tourney

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The familiar "Watch Out for Jack Nicklaus" chant reverberated over the Firestone Country Club today on the eve of the 57th PGA Golf Championship, but Gary Player had his hearing aid turned off.

"I never go into a tournament thinking this man or that man is the man to beat," the gritty little South African said. "When I first took up the game I was taught that the course and not the individual is the adversary."

"The course is the monster. The course is the villain. My job is to whip the course. I try to concentrate on that. I don't look over my shoulder at anybody."

Winner of the event twice with a 10-year gap—1962 and 1972—as part of his cache of 24 national championships, Player is one of the favorites in the field of 139 teeing off Thursday over the 7,180-yard, par-70 course.

Nicklaus is the No. 1 favorite at 6-1, followed by Lee Trevino and Johnny Miller at 8-1; Player, Tom Weiskopf and Tom Watson at 10-1, and Gene Littler, Hale Irwin and host pro Bobby Nichols 12-1.

"Of course, if you pinned me down," Player added, softening his original statement somewhat, "and asked me who I pick outside of myself—a man must always figure he's going to win—I would follow the expected line."

"I would have to say Nicklaus. He has to be the choice because of his strength, hitting power and the best brain in the game."

"I have great respect for both Nicklaus and Lee Trevino. Trevino can't be overlooked because he drives the ball so straight and is so good around the greens."

As for his No. 1 antagonist, this sprawling layout which has been the regular site of the annual World Weries, Player called it "one of the most difficult tests in golf."

"It is long, it is tough. There's a lot of heavy rough and the greens are generally small. It will take a good player in full control of his game to win here."

Trades, cuts mark football

By The Associated Press

Some got traded, bounced or battered; others merely were shoved: just the usual preseason rough stuff among players at National Football League camps across the country.

Several deals were made in the marketplace Tuesday, among them the Washington Redskins' signing of defensive tackle Dave Butz, a three-year man formerly with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Coach George Allen described the 24-year-old Butz, a free agent who stands 6-feet-7 and weighs 295, as "the biggest guy I've ever had," and said the Redskins and Cardinals are "trying to work out something" in the form of compensation for St. Louis.

Allen said that Butz, recovering from a knee injury, would be used sparingly in the beginning, but hinted that he hoped Butz might develop into a replacement for Deacon Jones, who retired in the off-season.

Later in the day, Charley Harraway, fullback for the Redskins from 1969 until jumping to the World Football League last year, announced his retirement.

The Denver Broncos obtained defensive back Jeff Severson from the Houston Oilers Tuesday for an undisclosed 1976 draft choice, and the Kansas City Chiefs traded veteran offensive guard Tom Humphrey to the Atlanta Falcons for rookie offensive guard John Nessel of Penn State.

Also, a host of veterans and rookies were placed on waivers as teams hastened to trim their rosters for exhibition opens this weekend.

The Chicago Bears cut six players, including veteran running back Gary Kosins, who was in his fourth season with the team.

The Detroit Lions lost two key defensive players Tuesday when tackle Jim Mitchell and defensive back Dick Jauron suffered injuries during the afternoon workouts.

Surgery for Varicose Veins

I developed varicose veins after the birth of my second child. I've been told that there is a new operation that can be done in the doctor's office.

My doctor doesn't know about this. Can you tell me more about it?

Mrs. H.H., S.C.

Dear Mrs. H.: I cannot imagine who the "authority" was who gave you this information. I know of no surgical procedure for varicose veins that can be safely performed in the doctor's office.

Operations that tie off the veins, or strip the veins, are performed for maximum safety in hospitals.

Some small varicose veins can be treated in the doctor's office by the injection method. Special drugs that are injected directly into tiny varicose veins can obliterate them.

This procedure is not an effective substitute for the more comprehensive surgical treatment used for larger and more extensive varicose vein problems.

Far too many people are tempted by shortcut, magical cures when surgery is the simplest, safest and most beneficial approach to the problem of varicose veins.

Is it necessary to cauterize the nose when there is a tendency to nose bleeds?

Mr. R.U., Nev.

Dear Mr. U.: Most nose bleeds, or "epistaxis," can be controlled by putting a large piece of absorbent cotton in the nose and firmly squeezing the nostrils.

Pressure should be kept for about 10 minutes, to allow for nature's protective clotting to occur. The cotton should be left for about half an hour so that this blood clot will not be dislocated.

Bleeding is caused by a broken blood vessel, usually about half an inch inside the nose. If the exact site of the bleeding is seen by the doctor he can cauterize this spot with silver nitrate, acetic acid or with an electric spark.

When repeated episodes of bleeding occur, there is a greater need for cauterization. Occasionally, a large blood vessel deep inside the nose may break. Cauterization here is difficult, and nasal packing is used instead.

The bidding:

North 1♦ East 1♥ South 1NT West Pass

Opening lead - seven of hearts.

The study of card combinations — and how to deal with them — is highly rewarding, but there is always the danger of misapplying this knowledge.

Consider the diamond combination in this deal. If declarer's only problem were to win four diamond tricks, he would do best, in the long run, to try two finesses. This method succeeds when West has the king, the queen, or both.

But under some circumstances, declarer may do better by adopting a different approach. Here is such a case. West leads a heart and South plays the queen from dummy. (If he plays the ten, East can defeat the contract by playing the jack.) East wins the queen with the ace, returns the jack, ducked by South, and then the nine, taken by the king. Declarer has only eight tricks at this stage, and his best chance for a ninth obviously lies in diamonds. But South realizes that if he follows standard operating procedure and takes a diamond finesse, he will be defeated if East has either the king or the queen.

He therefore plays the jack of diamonds but goes up with the ace after West follows low. Luckily, he catches the king and makes four trump by continuing the suit.

The basis for rejecting the diamond finesse is extremely sound. South reasons that he cannot make the contract if East has the guarded king or queen. His only real chance is to assume that West has the K-Q or that East has a singleton honor.

He therefore assigns East a diamond holding that permits the contract to be made. Going up with the ace is sure to give him the contract, if he gets lucky, but it cannot possibly be the cause of his losing the contract. The special circumstances offer him no other choice.

Derailment brings death to woman

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Investigators are examining the wreckage of a freight train to determine the cause of a derailment that Tuesday led to the death of a person in a camper alongside the train.

The victim was identified as Alberta Ceryak of Youngstown. Five other persons, including three firemen, received minor injuries.

Authorities say various vehicles were waiting for the freight train to clear a railroad crossing here. When the train derailed, a semitrailer aboard a train flatcar toppled over and crushed Ceryak's camper. The woman was the only one inside the vehicle.

Ethyl alcohol leaking from a tank car that overturned on the opposite side of the track erupted into flames several times amid minor explosions, preventing firemen's efforts to reach the flaming camper for several hours.

The Erie Lackawanna Railway Co. train of 78 loaded cars was en route from Chicago to New York.

A witness, Thomas Hickman of Pittsburgh, said the semitrailer aboard the train struck part of tractor-trailer rig he was driving. He said he escaped the cab through a crumpled windshield.

"It just started coming at me," Hickman said. "It pushed me back...the windshield shattered...I just sat there till it came to a stop."
